Day by Day

The parking lot of the church was dirty and the weather was bitterly cold. As entered the building, I tried to get to the auditorium where the ceremony was to be held but the way was blocked by a double line of blacked out young boys.

Their lively conversation came as I started down the steps dividing the file into two. "Bright light, lady," a bearded young man said, "a bright light falling over his forehead."

There were about one hundred men and women sitting in the auditorium. Facing them was a long table with six chairs. In the center were twelve red candles placed in pagoda style.

THERE was not much time after I arrived before the youngest youngsters were seated in and took their seats on both sides of the long table. The ceremony began.

A white-haired man in civilian clothes said that the gathering was being held to give certain awards to some of the boys who had done especially well in the movement for which they were all united.

He introduced their leader. The leader, in an oath version of the uniforms, explained that the list of the boys were to be singled out for the highest degree of achievement that could be given to the thousands involved in the program throughout the area.

HE ALSO talked about many sacrifices another group had made into the "progressive movement" at Arlington Heights where they were taught how to treat wounded and broken bodies. Their lessons were given with the use of simulated cases.

Legal Notice

The annual meeting of the Arlington Heights Association, Inc., will be held on Monday, January 13, 1970, at 7 p.m. on the premises of the Bank of North Dearborn Heights, 500 E. Dearborn, Arlington Heights.

are heavily developed and apprehension has grown over possible displacement of residential areas along the corridor.

Latest denouncements of the proposed corridor have come from two area legislators. Rep. Robert J. La Follette (R-Park Ridge) and State Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), whose majority leader.

ACCORDING to Jack, the highway would be through Chicago, Glenview, Niles, Morton Grove, Lincoln Park Ridge and Des Plaines, as well as the Northwest suburbs of Meigs Park, Arlington Heights and Palatine.

Not only would many homes be displaced by three important corridors in the Northwest corridor, but all of the proposed routes would be divided and disrupted. Jack said recently.

He urged the state highway department to locate the road where it would not disrupt established communities.

ARRINGTON HAS also criticized the yet-to-be-announced freeway plans, warning of the danger of disrupting existing communities and destroying property along the route.

set yet

As the criticism mounts, the state seems to be getting more reluctant to decide on exact location of the corridor.

Lochner said in the report that several alternative routes are being studied with the proposed corridor and that plans are being made to shift them within "mini-corridors" if necessary.

ALTHOUGH its study of preliminary alternatives was expected to be completed in late 1969, Lochner said, the fact has caused delay.

The first report said is the fact that the highway department is studying improvements proposed within the corridor. The Rand-Golf highway corridor which could have some effect on the proposed route.

THE highway division has decided it wants to review all of the proposed improvements in the area before further decisions are made on the Rand-Golf freeway.

ALSO, THE REPORT CATS and the North-central states highway commission (NCHC) in the process of updating transportation data on the metropolitan area.

"We are therefore delaying any presentation or discussion of alternative alignments and conclusions concerning these alignments pending completion of these related studies and analyses," the Lochner report said.

The Rand-Golf freeway is part of the third stage of expressway construction proposed by CATS for the Chicago area.

Ever since Callie McCormack helped at antique shops, she has been interested in antiques.

"I was horrified when I learned that she was going to throw away all the antique stuff she had been carrying in three flights down."

After a number of years as a collector Mrs. McCormack has now opened her own little antique shop, the Country Heritage Antique Shop on Illinois 21 just past the Addison-Vista in Wheeling.

CALLIE HELPED her aunt clean the attic, polishes and her husband was interested in the contents of the boxes discovered. One after another they yielded valuable items such as brocade cooking utensils, cut and pressed glass and many more old items.

"I decided to keep every one of them and learn all I could about their history."

This was the beginning. Mrs. McCormack has been through the Quoniam, and she is an active member of the Scrimshaw Chapter.

Callie has included many interesting areas in her new shop, there are old Valentines, Chinese silk scrolls, pewter pots and a set of Chinese aristocratic dolls. Even if you're not a dedicated antiquer, you are sure to find an interesting niche for browsing at the Country Heritage.

In the cozy little country heritage antique shop, Wheeling, are many items that would delight both the experienced and beginning antiquer.

Mrs. Callie McCormack previews a few of the items in her store, a set of flanking blocks, an iron burl, an old fire car and a wooden doll cradle.

Letters To The Editor

"To progress is to open your mind"

Editor:

One of the four freedoms of our country is "Freedom of Speech." Doesn't this mean the right to speak our own minds? If it does, please, let me exercise this right, now.

I'd like to ask your help. The help of everyone who is able to understand "conscience," need for help. Especially those people who are employers in the vast business world of ours. But, first, I'd better tell you who I am. I'm a female and 19 years old. I'm a graduate of Arlington High School. (Which I was in—there, I was on the junior honor roll several times.) I have my share of friends, and all around appearances you'd say I'm like any other typical American teenager.

But I'm not. For I am just one of two million people in this country. But this isn't the entire problem. The rest of the problem is that I'm uncomfortable. I have sought opinion of various sources. But it's usually the same old story. "You must be everywhere." I, the prospective employer, look over my qualifications on the application, and usually seem quite pleased. Until their eyes glaze over the "Medical" part of the application and see the word "epilepsy." Then the employer smiles politely and hands me some line like...

"We were really looking for someone with a little more experience." And that is the end. How can I acquire "experience?" If nobody is willing to give me a chance to prove myself? I proved myself in school. What was the sense of going to school all those years, if I can't use what I have learned now?

Please, I'm asking all of you to help me, and others like me. We're not living in the Dark Ages! Don't toss us aside as if we were totally untalented! Give us a chance to prove ourselves. Won't you take a moment of your time to learn a few simple facts about us? Do you know that many people's seizures are completely controlled by medications? (Such as in my case.)

So the next time you come across one of us, please remember the Golden Rule. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." And also that to progress is to open your mind.

Lee Janson LISTENS TO YOU

WALKS ALONE

Dear Lee Janson, friend, and the ladies boys. She won't even go to a party where there is one boy.

The other day in school I asked a couple of boys what they thought on their interests, and they told me. That was, after class, my friend wouldn't speak to me. She walked ahead of me, and didn't talk to me for the rest of the day.

I'm not a hood or anything, but I like to socialize with girls and boys. What can I do? She is the only real friend I have in my class.

This is a friend? Walk with him when he discovers boys. You'll probably get trapped in the snare. Keep socializing, and your girl friend will eventually catch up to you.

TOO YOUNG

As a suburban mother, I wondered about the letter from the eighth grader who was pregnant. It seems very difficult for me to believe that this letter wasn't just a hoax. A high school senior I could understand, but an eighth grader? I wonder.

I don't wonder. I wish that eighth grader didn't get pregnant. They do.

We take issue with readers who say "Nothing's so dead as yesterday's newspaper."

In a narrow sense, of course, the statement is correct. The reporters, editors and all craftsmen engaged in getting out a daily newspaper will be the first to point out that they are already busy collating, weighing and finishing news of events unfolding while today's papers are being printed.

It's also all too obvious that readers of a newspaper issued yesterday have in our hurried times turned their backs on what's happened and want to know not just what's going on today, but what the forecast is for tomorrow, and they don't mean the weather reports.

WHEN we accept that "yesterday is dead" definition, you are saying that headlines are tomorrow's heralding oblivion.

More precise interpretation would call them "signposts to the future."

Viewed with judgment, the defects, the hopes and the dangers which are in the human condition have been long after their immediate message has been delivered.

WE INVITE you to read a few headlines that "hook up" as "turned on" readers at different times during the 240 years of life of the American newspaper. 13 by 17½ inches and weighs a short ton. When you go to borrow it from the family car, take along the family car.

But when you study the facsimile of DeLaur's General Advertiser, dated Dec. 7, 1776, the headline is as current as today. "The American Crisis," with the author, Tom Paine, plunging right into his theme. "These are times that try men's souls."

Nearer to our own day, the May 27, 1844, issue of the Philadelphia Public Ledger had "Interesting Experiments" on the story on the success of things to come, you will agree with Thomas Jefferson's belief that "The press is the best instrument for enlightening the mind of man."

Dr. Joseph DeLaur

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

This may sound like a soap opera, but I feel you may be able to find some answers I've been seeking. Will you two find me some women and be able to write down happily ever after? Are their present positions a good start for their futures? They are our main concern. I am sure you are more than capable of finding the oldest one since to the very happy. We are living my first different journey by air on the 17th of January and on the 21st. Will be well.

No name please, El Greco Village

I do see one changing jobs and eventually changing villages. Don't worry, both will find the proper means and be happy. I feel you'll find living a relaxing and wonderful adventure and your trip will be a pleasant one.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

Concerning my husband's job. Do you see him staying in his present location or being transferred in 1970. If the latter, will it be close (Chicago area) or far in the distance? Also, do you see a child for twins making it an in 1970 or 1971?

Dear Mrs. A.Z.

I see a more, but it will be in this area. I also see a child, a girl, toward the end of 1970.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

Since the birth of our last boy I have been nothing but resentful and unhappy. I always, even though I was a mother, I have a daughter, I have taken out my unhappiness in my family. My husband, I'm very happy with my life before the baby was born. But you see that I will be my old self again and forget this obsession about having a girl. Do you see any children in 1970 or 1971? Will be in this area.

Dear Mrs. V.P.

I feel this depression you are in is something many mothers go through following the birth of a baby. You will overcome it. I urge you to be grateful for a healthy baby and remember the hundreds of mothers who have not been so fortunate. However, I feel you will have a girl eventually, and I don't see you working in the near future.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

Last year I attended college in Wisconsin. My grades were poor and I didn't study as much as I should have. My parents and I decided that I should stay out of school for a semester and work. I now want to return in January. Do you think I have a good chance of succeeding in my scholastic efforts? Also, there is a boy up here that I have become very, very close friends with. Do you feel the future holds any chance of our relationship becoming more than friendship?

Dear L.M.:

Concerning the girl, I feel you will continue to be good friends but not a husband. I feel you should go back to school, but I don't feel you will.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

We have two children. Do you see any more in our future? I also wonder if we will move again, either out West or into the region.

Dear Mrs. F.I.

I feel you will have two more children. I see you moving within this region at first and then, within the next 10 years moving hundreds of miles away. It will have something to do with your husband's position.

JOSEPH DE LOURIE, nationally known psychic, will answer the questions of readers. Letters should be signed, but names will be omitted at the writer's request. Write DeLaurie, in care of Day Publications, 722 Center St., Des Plaines, Ill. 60016.

Tomorrow Is Today

Dr. Joseph DeLaur

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

This may sound like a soap opera, but I feel you may be able to find some answers I've been seeking. Will you two find me some women and be able to write down happily ever after? Are their present positions a good start for their futures? They are our main concern. I am sure you are more than capable of finding the oldest one since to the very happy. We are living my first different journey by air on the 17th of January and on the 21st. Will be well.

No name please, El Greco Village

I do see one changing jobs and eventually changing villages. Don't worry, both will find the proper means and be happy. I feel you'll find living a relaxing and wonderful adventure and your trip will be a pleasant one.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

Concerning my husband's job. Do you see him staying in his present location or being transferred in 1970. If the latter, will it be close (Chicago area) or far in the distance? Also, do you see a child for twins making it an in 1970 or 1971?

Dear Mrs. A.Z.

I see a more, but it will be in this area. I also see a child, a girl, toward the end of 1970.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

Since the birth of our last boy I have been nothing but resentful and unhappy. I always, even though I was a mother, I have a daughter, I have taken out my unhappiness in my family. My husband, I'm very happy with my life before the baby was born. But you see that I will be my old self again and forget this obsession about having a girl. Do you see any children in 1970 or 1971? Will be in this area.

Dear Mrs. V.P.

I feel this depression you are in is something many mothers go through following the birth of a baby. You will overcome it. I urge you to be grateful for a healthy baby and remember the hundreds of mothers who have not been so fortunate. However, I feel you will have a girl eventually, and I don't see you working in the near future.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

Last year I attended college in Wisconsin. My grades were poor and I didn't study as much as I should have. My parents and I decided that I should stay out of school for a semester and work. I now want to return in January. Do you think I have a good chance of succeeding in my scholastic efforts? Also, there is a boy up here that I have become very, very close friends with. Do you feel the future holds any chance of our relationship becoming more than friendship?

Dear L.M.:

Concerning the girl, I feel you will continue to be good friends but not a husband. I feel you should go back to school, but I don't feel you will.

Dear Mr. DeLaur:

We have two children. Do you see any more in our future? I also wonder if we will move again, either out West or into the region.

Dear Mrs. F.I.

I feel you will have two more children. I see you moving within this region at first and then, within the next 10 years moving hundreds of miles away. It will have something to do with your husband's position.

JOSEPH DE LOURIE, nationally known psychic, will answer the questions of readers. Letters should be signed, but names will be omitted at the writer's request. Write DeLaurie, in care of Day Publications, 722 Center St., Des Plaines, Ill. 60016.

With the erosion of ethnic enclaves, such as our own in the northwest Cook County area, there is the substantial risk of growing according to its own and political attitudes.

The officials of the new cultural center under way in Arlington Heights will probably find that the entire project will become a focus of the arts, crafts, and refined skills in a more comprehensive way than originally envisioned, in the proposal by John Wood, then mayor, now serving as Con-Con delegate.

THE SUBURBS YESTERDAY The suburbs were representative of a certain stylized way of life, they are today a miniature of the world at large. In Illinois such as exchange students, from foreign countries are no longer oddities. Beyond the former concept of garden clubs and women's groups at unit bars with specific budgets and parochial interests, members of such groups are now eager to apply their talents to widening philanthropic horizons and civic improvements, often in regions beyond village limits.

If you want to keep posted on what's going on, at home and in the world, you will find your suburban headlines serve as your guide.

New show at Countryside

Artist Vera Berdich was guest of honor at the opening of a one-man show of her work at Countryside Gallery Friday. A specialist in graphics and print-making, as well as a teacher of over 20 years at the Art Institute of Chicago, Miss Berdich is one of the few persons to be given a one-man show at the department of prints and drawings of the Art Institute.

An accomplished etcher, her work has a feeling of fantasy, and she is especially known for her innovations, combining etching with photographic transfers. According to Harold Joachim, curator of prints and drawings at the Art Institute, "Her competent, sensitive and imaginative handling of the copperplate is a unique phenomenon in our time."

Her show, which opened to the public with a reception from 8 to 10 p.m. Jan. 9, will run at the Gallery through Feb. 11.

Known for her innovations in the field of graphics, Vera Berdich expertly combines photographic transfers with etching and collage, creating a fantasy world of her own.

Encourage your child's creativity

By Ruth Cunniff

"My child does very well in art at school and he would like to try some painting at home. What materials should I buy for him?"

This is one of many similar questions asked Mrs. George Leblin, president of Countryside Art Center and secretary of "Countryside Gallery," 407 N. Vail, Arlington Heights.

"If this is an older child, junior high age or older, I use gent the new acrylic paints," she said. "They have many definite advantages for use by young people and, after all, they are new and are being used by many contemporary artists whose work the child enjoys."

ACRYLIC PAINTS come in tubes or jars and are used much like oil paint with water instead of oil, making the clean-up process much easier. They dry very fast and become extremely durable. Most children do not have the patience to wait for the slower drying oil.

"Only the primary color plus black and white," suggested Mrs. Leblin. "Let him mix his own colors and encourage him to work big."

He will also need an assortment of brushes, some fairly large ones (perhaps one or two inches wide) and a few medium and small ones.

An excellent painting surface is ordinary manila, matted, and covered with several coats of gesso. Gesso is a thick white substance available at art supply stores. Large canvas boards can also be used.

Acrylic paints may be thinned with water and hand-dried like water colors, using regular water color papers. This technique is often too difficult for the younger child.

"The fewer and less complicated the tools, the more the child can accomplish," added Mrs. Leblin.

"MY CHILD is always copying pictures from the magazine. Everyone says he does beautifully. How can I help him?" This is another question often asked.

It seems such a simple question for a child who has a natural interest in art to copy other work from time to time. If he succeeds in copying well he is often complimented on his drawing and soon is afraid to develop his own ideas. It is important that the child be convinced that his way is good, too. It is different from an adult's, but it is his way, and that is what is important.

FOR PAINTING materials for the younger child, Mrs. McKee suggested buying large jars of tempera in just a few colors, an assortment of brushes, and large drawing pads or pads of newspaper.

"Have him work big and solve his own problems. Let him mix his own colors. He may mix mud, but he will learn," Mrs. McKee said.

Cutting and gluing papers and "found" objects is a great way for children of all ages to express themselves. Have the child collect as many different types of papers as he can, such as sand paper, folk, shell and wallpaper or tissues. Let him discover the textures in these.

Have him collect as many colored papers or materials in shades of one color as he can. Let him collect flat things such as string, toothpicks, paper stars, trimmings, tacks. Teach him to use a scissors properly so that he may be allowed to use a sharp pair.

Who wants to cut with a small, dull scissors—fast snags, glues that really stick, the Elmer's or LePage's, and show him how to glue to a sturdy cardboard base.

Remember that art work and children combined are going to be messy. Provide a suitable place for him to work.

Give him the materials to work with, but do not give too much direction, especially the younger child. Encourage him to work as many ways as possible.

Above all, enjoy what he produces. A child's imagination can be pretty wonderful," Mrs. McKee said.

College isn't for everyone

A famous psychologist Bruce Frettschtein suggests that college isn't for everyone. "I think a big mistake is taking students into a system for which many are not suited. An effect educational system can't be useful to every student. And our graduate schools are often wanted because kids are too immature. They know far too little about the world. If they could only work or go into some kind of an internal Peace Corps for a couple of years after they graduate from high school—things might work out better."

"Mystical, though figurative and romantic," are words frequently used to describe the unique art of Vera Berdich, which can be seen in her one-man show at Countryside Gallery, Arlington Heights.

Henry came in second and Elk Grove finished in fourth place with powerful Elwood Park in the fourth and fifth places.

Prospect finished sixth, followed by New Trier East, Arlington, Niles East and Maine East.

Each school was allowed one coach in each event. Elwood team points were awarded for a first-place performance on each piece, and from nine to one were given for second through 10th place. The winning score for Hinsdale was 46, followed closely by Henry's 42.

Gray Mervin of Henry was the first-place medalist in the parallel bars with a sensational score of 8.65. One judge gave the Hunkie star a 9.2, which was only good for college caliber.

Landy Fernandez of Elk Grove was fifth in the same event with a very respectable 7.85. Prospect's Pete Klein turned in a 7.3 for his routine, but in this only-top competition that was only good for seventh place. John Boylan of Arlington and Bruce Seiger of Maine East also competed on the parallel bars.

For Fernandez, Gray Mervin came up with a score of 8.75 on the rings to earn a meet honor on that event. Henry's Craig Sigmon recorded an 8.2, but it was only good for fourth place and seven team points.

Greg Dittell of Arlington and Prospect's Mike Chowski tied for sixth at 7.25, and Maine East's specialist Keith Field came in 10th with a 6.45. Arlington's Steve Von Elsen averaged an average of 6.55 in the five exercises, which put him just out of first-place honors behind Pat Walker of Waukegan, who had an 8.6.

Movras was third in the same event with an 8.15, and a 7.55 by Kurt Hendelstorf of Prospect earned the Knight standstill sixth place. Eugene Brennan of Elk Grove and Tom Anlin of Maine East tied ninth and 10th, respectively.

Prospect picked up a first on the trampoline from Jay Benson, who pulled down an 8.45 on his specialty. Al Himes was also high on the tramp with a 7.4 for a third-place finish for Elk Grove.

John Weaver of Henry tied Elwood's Jay Zenne for fifth on the trampoline with a 7.4, and Von Elsen pulled up eighth for the Cardinals with a 5.75. Bill Dahlin of Maine East took ninth with a 4.65.

In the side horse competition, an 8.5 by Ed Sheak of Hinsdale Central was easily enough for first place. Elk Grove's Wayne Olson took second place with a 7.65, and Kyle Woodridge was barely good for fourth by Waukegan's Tom McBride. McBride had a 7.9 for 7.55 for Woodridge. Pat Brennan of Arlington followed in fifth place with a 7.35, and Neil Kandi turned in the best performance of the day for the Maine East Demons with a 6.25 that was good for seventh. Jim Wilson was right behind in eighth for Prospect with a 6.2.

Hinsdale also covered first place on the high bar as Carl Wallin was awarded an 8.45. Ron Wald of Prospect had an 8.05 good for third, and Arlington's John Boylan was fifth with a 7.35.

Movras, competing in his third event of the meet, was seventh with a 7.15. His score would have been much higher, but he slipped off the bar toward the end of a fine routine and thus lost valuable points.

Dave Swenson of Elk Grove had a 6.85 for an eighth-place finish and John Zinke of Maine East was 10th at 4.6. Arlington, last year's champion, also won the Prospect meet last season.

Prospect took meet honors two years ago.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie yesterday revealed the largest program in Illinois history for improvement of the state's primary highways: The 1970 state highway program, estimated at $575.8 million, exceeds by more than $200 million the previous Illinois record set in 1969.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie yesterday revealed the largest program in Illinois history for improvement of the state's primary highways: The 1970 state highway program, estimated at $575.8 million, exceeds by more than $200 million the previous Illinois record set in 1969.

District 10, which is all of Cook County, will total $118,261,000 for highways,

At a news conference in his Springfield office, Ogilvie said: "This program represents the boldest single step in Illinois history toward putting the tax dollars of Illinois citizens into a truly modern transportation system capable of meeting the needs of the next several decades."

OF THE TOTAL figure, $220.7 million will be earmarked for work on interstate highways, including the construction of 42 miles of new pavement, 23 interchange structures, 40 bridges and 88' grade separation structures.

The remaining $355.1 million will finance work on non-interstate roads, including $142.4 million for

All Phase-Four projects announced by Ogilvie last Wednesday will be included in the 1970 program, along with projects from the earlier three phases not yet under contract.

jects are improvements on 167 miles of highway, including 20 miles on the proposed downstate freeway system; construction of 108 interchanges, grade separations and bridge structures; and 25 intersection improvements.

According to state Public Works Director William F. Cellini, the state will finance $333.8 million of the program with funds from highway revenues ($185.8 million) and bond issues ($148 million). The federal government will provide $232.3 million and local sources an additional $9.7 million.

Reviewing 1969 highway construction, Ogilvie said $331 million in contracts were awarded at 13 bid lettings.

HE SAID MORE than 100 miles of new interstate roads the year, bringing the state's total to 1,188 out of 1,722 miles designated for Illinois. Another 294 miles of interstate is currently under construction.

Other construction completed in 1969 included 88 miles of new pavement on other primary highways, 615 miles of concrete resurfacing, 50 new bridges and 102 new

Sen. Ralph Smith (R.-Ala.) and Rep. William Rostenkowski (D.-Ill.) spoke from the same platform in Arlington Heights Monday.

They spoke before a standing-room-only crowd at the VFW Hall in a public meeting sponsored by the American Conservative Union, a national American Organization.

Smith, who has been in the U.S. Senate ever since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, was the keynote speaker for the Tennessee GOP convention.

Both candidates emphasized their support for President Nixon and the "Whip Inflation Now" plan.

Mr. NIXON sought out the aid of 11 million people in the South and West.

RENTSCHLER told his audience that he was aware of the reports that he would retire from the race, but his campaign was in need of money and that the White House advised him to leave the campaign.

Slugging hard and making a public break with Gov. Ogilvie, Rentschler said, "These rumors are spread by Gov. Ogilvie and Sen. Smith and they persist because of desperation in the camp of my opponents."

Fashion puts zing into Spring

It will be a shaggy spring 1970, and in the world of fashion the coat and dress partnership is a must. Patrick Porter of Rome has created this airy dress-the coat arrow-fits and beneath it a shaggy dress, gently A-lined and with a front half belt repeats the contrast color of the coat. In ivory-mary, ivory-mary-harry and ivory-gold, both are in a remarkably subtle rayon line. Sizes 6 to 16, about $70 at leading stores.

Shag and zing are the thing for spring, 1970, fashions. So says the fashion house of Rome with a snappy collection of spring attire created by Patrick Porter for all occasions and all hours.

The dress and coat partnership is interpreted in a variety of fabrics, from the gently fitted wool knit coat worn over a crepe dress pleated to giant dimensions and with matching scarf, to a sleeveless jumper-coat, belted in front, with a cobra-printed Anton and nylon shiny-sleeved dress peeking out beneath.

A coat plus is the straight-legged jumpsuit with its own special double-breasted cover-up, the printed lining of the coat reiterated in the waist with of the jumps.

OTHER TWO-PART "pretties" are dress and jacket combos such as the color-dust, the dress simply draped with a faintly flared skirt, the jacket a brief little flared top just above the waist. Another duo, with the earmarks of a suit, is in reality a dress with jacket partner. Its fiery pleated skirt beneath a turtle-neck is topped with a crisp cotton plaid jacket with semi-double breasted effect.

The dress alone also carries its own fashion weight, as interpreted by Patrick Porter for Rome. Particularly noteworthy are the trio of animal prints done in Beaton and Anton and nylon for stay-care wearing and packing. Again the color-dust appears, now in soft surprise bodice, softened skirt and pearl-skirted shirtdress.

And because the look continues as a dominant fashion influence, Rome puts the knit into spring. It's a creamy oatmeal pullover, knit that is dress interpreted both in skirt shape and in a belted skirt that has a snug elasticized waistline.

The snuggled skirts for the new season are shirtdresses. Here, a clever variation conceived by Patrick Porter for Rome has reversed some neckline and glassed-out pockets. Other shirtdresses printed skirt and full skirt-cuffed sleeves. Sizes 6 to 16, about $66 at leading stores.

Letters to the Editor

It's the enemy within which perils U.S.

In its own-song report to the nation, the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence figured the greatest enemy facing the United States in the immediate years ahead.

In Pope's immortal words, "It is us."

Our most serious challenges to date have been external the kind this strong and resourceful country could unite against, and the commission, which was created by President Johnson in 1968 following the assassination of Martin Luther King and Robert F. Kennedy.

Now, however, stated its 13 members in a unanimous voice, "While serious external dangers remain, the gravest threats today are internal."

These include haphazard urbanization, racial discrimination, disfigurement of the environment, the dislocation of human identity and motivation "all resulting in a rising tide of individual and group violence."

The commission recommends that when the Vietnam war ends the nation increase annual welfare expenditures by about $20 billion, partly by reducing military expenditures and partly by increased tax revenues resulting from growth of the gross national product. Welfare spending should continue to increase "until essential social goals are realized."

"The greatness and durability of most civilizations has been finally determined by how they have responded to these challenges from within," the commission summed up. "Our will is no exception."

Few persons in or out of government have either failed this test report, along with its forewarnings—as much-needed, 14th-hour warning or championed it as a blueprint for a brighter national future. Nevertheless, commission members believe that the message is slowly sinking into the national conscience.

"If in five years nothing has happened," says chairman Milton S. Eisenhower, "I shall be the most disappointed man in America."

It is to be hoped that he has not underestimated the individual citizen's capacity to ignore the perils which do not threaten him immediately and directly.

As Richard H. Rovere noted recently, all of us alive today in the "developed" countries grew up with technology. All the causes of our present lamentations could have been foreseen decades ago.

"Given a few facts about the chemistry of the environment and the impact on it of population and advanced technology, any man of modern literacy could have charted the route from the recent past to the present and on to the questionable future," he writes. "The apogee of the crisis in the late '60s should have been predictable in the middle years of the Depression, if not long before."

But prophets are seldom honored, especially prophets of gloom.

"Anyway, no one is actually gagging for his life's breath on polluted air. No one is dropping over from disease spread by rivers we have turned into sewers."

The mathematics of population growth yet may be unarguable, but most people as yet see no real reason why they should not bring a fourth or fifth or sixth child into the world.

There is still plenty of countryside for the suburbs to spread into. The balance of nature may be imperiled, but the stores are still stocked with food.

Despite all the fearful talk about crime, it is for the most part confined to the black ghettos, which one can easily drive around in his new car on the new freeways.

Organized crime the kind of crime that takes money from everyone's pocket and most directly threatens the health of society is largely regarded with indifference by the public, even in the face of revelations, as lately in New York, of how widely it has corrupted law enforcement and government and how deeply it has penetrated legitimate business.

Dr. Eisenhower's optimism to the contrary, things may have to get much worse, much more quickly, before Americans decide to do what has to be done to make them better.

Day light

By Joseph Stuenkel

In these early hours of the new year it is astonishing how many of us are concentrating on what the year 2000 will bring to humanity.

Not 1970, our immediate concern, but a year 30 years ahead of us.

Perhaps the very next round figure of 2000 has appeal. After all, 2000 is man's pilgrimage on the globe. Ten more centuries behind him, as he enters into what seers, politicians, scientists, technological and religious leaders are already mapping out as a country of utopian dream come true, infinite possibilities.

THERE is a fascination in projecting what the future holds. Especially when the tempo of life has been so speeded up that incredible advances may well be achieved in the three decades ahead, compared with the 30 years now ended, say, by any individual suburbanite in this northwestern area.

At mid-century we do not recall there was as big a do-do about what was over the horizon when 2000 A.D. would appear. Probably because we were all busy picking up the pieces and rearranging individual lives and mankind in general after World War I. Fifty years also seemed a long time off then the figure of 30, but off then the figure of 30, which some authorities formerly settled on as representing a generation. Even a generation, which technically represents the time elapsed between the birth of one generation and the birth of those following them, appears to have shrunk considerably, with so many young marriage already occurring.

It's quite possible that a checklist with the new congressional testimony for the year 2000 by John McAlle in 1969 as operative by NAREB local member firms could come up with more accurate figures a long time less than the slower, unwieldy 70 years previously provided.

"TECHNOLOGY" is the scapgoat to which we are inclined to attach symbolical aims of omission and commission then drive into the wilderness in praise for expansion for our guilt.

The tremendous demand for convenience, signs of affluence, ease and comfort has caused how many snafus that both forth how many tons of pollutants, submerge how many streams with an overlay of chemical residues, even result in how many cases of atomic waste, which must be dumped into ocean depths or far inside the earth's crust?

Don't blame technology for our current ills. Any man, much less a child, can, for instance, replace horse-drawn wheels with self-starting automobiles, require that we also make provision for the end results as well as the products.

An 18-year-old blacksmith, Joe Longmarch, about just like Longmarch's classic figure, outside his smelter under a spreading tree and watched one of the early Ford Model T's "scorch" down the street at about 25 m.p.h., turned and said to me, "Sure chew up the road asphalt."

If such simple down-to-earth trivia are dismissed by you as notes in man's advance toward the millennium, you have lost contact with the everyday reality of details that make up our lives, in our own suburban, then in the fermenting regions around us.

It's accepted that a fractional margin of a thermostat we can heat our homes, cool our cars, and so work in comfort, but the depression on our atmosphere has recently not caused any outcry.

CRYSTAL OF expecting magic from the number 30, it might be more sensible to settle for a smaller number, or even just of numbers.

One, for instance, meaning you, a single person, an individual who can bring about more lasting enlightenment than any Martin ever did. The other significant figure might well be 34, standing for the hours in a day. You can be the real wonder-worker of our progress, inch by inch, day by day.

Thirty years from now, just how will the story of our suburbs be told?

Finest tribute to this generation will be if 30 years from now a caustic phreaser will soberly note: "They worked wonders. Took careful planning and years of ordinary sustained effort. Day after day after day."

Lee Janson LISTENS TO YOU

REAL LOVE?

Dear Lee Janson,

What a fight we have. My boyfriend and I are going to be married, but he can't get used to my family and I can't get used to his.

You see, when he comes to my house, he always thinks it's funny to see my father and his brothers kiss each other. In fact, everyone in the family shows lots of affection for each other. We laugh, we kiss, we hug and we show we all love each other.

When we go to his house, love seems very formal. They shake hands. No one hugs. No one kisses. No one kisses. It all seems very cold to me.

Now I'm wondering, "Can we really be happy together?" I do love him.

Old Country
I like you very better. Good thing you're marrying me, and not my family. Thank him.

BLIND DATE

Dear Lee Janson,

My brother is very shy. Even though he's a freshman in college, he still doesn't date. When he was home for vacation, I tried to get him to date one of my girlfriends. He wouldn't even talk about it. I think it's time for him to start dating. Don't you?

I just know lots of girls that would love to date him. I know he likes girls, but just doesn't seem to want to date them. Can I change him?

Helpful, Hoffman Estates
Next time there's a vacation, throw a couple of parties. If nothing develops, you've got a fine blushing brother. There are some, you know.

Ever see a $200 bill?

Just one would buy you a whole year of electric heat.

And you'd probably have money left over. Surprised? You should be... because electric heat just doesn't cost a small fortune anymore.

Here's why: Commonwealth Edison has cut the cost of electric heat dramatically in the last ten years. That's why today, you should expect to pay less than $200 a year for electric heat in an average six-room house with proper insulation.

So if you still believe the myth that you have to make a lot of money to afford electric heat, forget it.

It's as phony as a $200 bill!

Cure for post-holiday let-down

Get a lift out of shopping

Feeling groggy? Or would "drowsy" be a more accurate description? Well, you're not alone. After going through the fall rush, then the Christmas rush, and now the post-holiday rush, most of us have woken up feeling a bit down. And sometimes this happens when they finally find time to get a good look at themselves in a full-length mirror. Is there a remedy? Happily, there is. Those great sales now going on.

If women ever needed a lift, it's after the holidays. And the lift provided by a new dress, coat or shoes for the triple lift of all three is an really bright idea. The goods will be gone. We all need to take stock and see if our clothes reflect the real person inside.

HOW DO WE take advantage of the great shopping opportunities of the January sales? First of all, read the papers early. The ads and flyers will tell you when the sales start, and the vice versa.

It's there early. If you wait until your neighbor tells you about her terrific sale, especially in clothing, chances are by the time you get there, all the goods will be gone. It wouldn't hurt to make a mental note of when the sales occur, annually, so you could anticipate them and not be stuck with a bridge loan check that could have been on another day, on the very day you want to be out shopping. Try to zero in on exactly what you are looking for, promising yourself that you'll keep an open mind. Say that you want a knit dress in plum shade. It's very good this season. But there's many a one to be seen. Maybe this is the time to change your color choice, or you may end up empty-handed.

But don't go to the stores with no plan in mind, or your bargain may turn into a white elephant. Plan your wardrobe purchases carefully. If you haven't already, pick a basic color scheme and make sure all your new purchases fit in.

A LITTLE homework will pay off handsomely, too. If you've been reading about styles and trends, you will have some ideas on what fashions are to stay and which are on their way out. If you already know what direction items are going to take, let us all know! The best thinking on the matter now is that they will stay short, but that length is in, and we can pick the length most flattering to each.

If you happen to miss the early sales, keep in mind that many stores sponsoring an annual clearance will have even more drastic reductions in the sale draws to a close. Shop stores, in particular, may save 25 or 50 per cent off. But if you are late, enough to find a good style in your shop at the end of the sale, you may actually be able to buy a perfectly great pair of shoes for about 15 per cent of the original cost.

As the cruiser comes in to the dress shops, replacing the winter coats, dresses are a good buy. Margie's apparel is featuring reductions up to 50 per cent for the lucky customer who finds just what she's looking for, and a find like that gives a girl the lift that only a real buy can give.

per cent are available in most of the stores featuring sales, and this is enough to make a big difference in the average budget.

If you budget (and we all should), don't feel that sales are not for you. The most astute shoppers shop on a budget and don't bleed for sales.

DON'T BE RAGGED—it's wise to stretch that budget at certain times. If you don't have a hunking sum in your clothing envelope right now, when all the sales are going on, borrow from one of your accounts which has built up a balance. It's not being frugal to turn down a chance to buy a $40 dress for $20. Because you don't have the cash in hand, if you're going to have to go out and buy a similar dress at the full price of $40 next month. The same thinking applies to shoes and men's and children's clothing.

The file in this argument is not knowing when to stop. You know how "bargain" can be a trap. If you have to pay back your loan, just as you would if it were a bank loan.

To digress from clothing for a moment, I want to add a footnote about the great buys that are to be found in the annual adult and children's programs. Try to plan your purchases, and review your linen closet. For most families there's no reason that all but gift purchases of linens could be made at this time. Savings of at least 25 per cent in most stores.

Organize your sewing

Most women who sell well-known ideas will tell you that they have to help organize sewing items.

Clip the pattern envelope and instruction sheet to a clipboard when working on a sewing project. As each section of pattern is removed from the material, place it under the clip. This eliminates the possibility of misplacing any of the pattern or the instruction sheet. When the garment is completed, all pattern pieces are ready to be put back in envelope.

If the pattern consisted of two parts, such as a skirt and blouse, the pieces of the skirt pattern may be pinned together and placed in the envelope. Do the same for the blouse pattern, and this will save time in the future if you are looking for just a skirt pattern or a blouse pattern.

WHEN HAND sewing slippery materials, fold a large patchwork piece across the knee. This helps to keep the material from sliding off.

Engineering

Edward R. Salim, 1918 E. Lillian Ln., Arlington Heights is one of 11 University of Illinois at Urbana students who have been initiated into the professional society in organic engineering called Keratan.

A hands pin tray for a pinning and sewing project is a wooden salad bowl. The bowl will not tip over, and the pins slide to the center of the bowl and are easy to pick up.

When sewing pieces of material you may also have a label which says to use a small needle and a small thread. This is the time of looking out and making a small project in the future.

Psychiatrists discuss 'anti-depressants'

Dr. Joseph J. Schildkraut, of the Massachusetts Mental Health Center in Boston, will present an address on "Anti-depressants and Lithium" at a private psychiatric luncheon at the Forest Hospital, 555 Wilson Ln., Des Plaines.

The lecture, for professional people only, is the fourth in the current course of lectures.

"Dr. J. Schildkraut," being presented by the executive committee of the Forest Hospital, a private psychiatric hospital, Dr. Schildkraut, in addition to being senior psychiatrist and director of the new psychopharmacology laboratory at the Massachusetts Mental Health Center, is also an assistant professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School and is in the editorial board of the Journal of Psychiatric Research and a consulting editor of the Psychopharmacology journal.

DR. SCHILDKRAUT will discuss the importance of differentiating among the depressive disorders when prescribing treatment for patients, including chemical changes which may occur as a result of using anti-depressant drugs and lithium salts will be discussed.

Dr. Jan Fawcett, of the Forest Hospital staff, will serve as the discussant following Dr. Schildkraut's presentation.

Since receiving his medical degree from the University of Chicago, Dr. Schildkraut has held a number of positions in the field of mental health. He has received a number of awards for his research, and is the author of over 40 papers dealing with drugs and mental illness.

Many suburbanites puzzled by moratorium goals

This feature is the brainchild of a new day series that will seek to learn opinions of Northwest Suburban residents on today's important issues.

By Oliver Brown

It seems that since November the last of the big moratoriums have ended, October proved to be an effective nationwide movement to force and November stirred the nation's capital. But what has happened to the promised once-a-month movement for world peace?

The day in an effort to find out what was in the minds of the Northwest suburban during the Moratorium, called a few to learn their reactions to a "dead movement." The majority of those contacted seemed to be uninformed on what took place during the moratorium and just what the different groups that participated in them were trying to do.

"I think the majority of it was a joke," said Robert Quackenbush, 22, of 1211 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. "It seems like the whole activity of the moratorium was in post mortem." In response to the question of the possibility for future moratoriums, Quackenbush replied, "There's a lot of people who are waiting for the results of the conspiracy (Chicago's Conspiracy 7) until before they make any plans."

"IT'S JUST A change of pace and a change of the times," said Carl N. Bobel, 3, N. Williams, Mount Prospect. "It's something that you have to learn to live with and learn to adjust to. I doubt if it did or will have any effect on ending the war. Everything is too political—either you're at war or at peace."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Lisk of 701 Belmont, Palatine, both said they were among the President's "silent majority." "I think they were at least as they could with the last moratorium and now they're working on something else," said Mrs. Lisk, "and I hope it works." "I think the decision was left in the hands of those who were delegated to handle it," said Carl Lisk. "I think President Nixon is taking the proper action in ending the war."

We didn't care about the moratorium one bit," said Mrs. Philip Kunz, 108 N. Mount Prospect.

Mrs. PHILLIP Agnew, 435 Cate St., Schaumburg, said no in response to the question "Do you think the moratorium helped shorten the war?" "I really haven't been paying much attention to it," she said.

Students around the area who are active in the moratorium have different opinions than the adults who feel that the anti-war demonstrations have been useless. "I think the people were surprised that we carried it on as long as we did," said Neil Powers, 112 Pine, Mount Prospect.

Niel has been active in the moratorium since they began and is a member of the Northwest Suburban Students for Peace. "We held one in December at Dempsey Jr. High and it was really cold. You can't do much until the weather warms up and people are willing to come out."

MIKE PARRILLO, a junior at Elk Grove High and also a member of the NWSSP, explained why their group has no chosen leaders. "We all get along and we all agree upon the same thing that the war should be ended."

When asked if there was any generation gap caused by the moratorium students Mike replied, "No. There were just as many older people participating in the moratorium as there were young. I think it helps to close the gap, if one exists. With the summer coming and warm weather I think the moratorium will explode with participation."

During the November moratorium, the Day was in Washington to get Sen.

Charles Percy's comments on the actions of the demonstrators that were in the capital for the weekend. "I was out there," said Percy, "so we know where there."

"It wasn't just the long-haired hippie type, but older men and women conducting themselves in an orderly way. I was so impressed by what the marchers were doing by just being there and acting the way they did."

I could be a lack of communication that inhibits a government from the moratorium stands for what the majority of the residents of the Northwest area think it stands for."

It is the belief of those who participate in the anti-war movement that once the weather cools, the feeling will grow, but the feeling is not limited to a particular age group defined below a certain number. Rebellion is not a state of age; but a state of mind in which the mind rebels against the state.

Northwest suburbs get road fund 'lion's share'

Arlington Heights Phoenix last night smoldered to remove burned and smoke-damaged articles from Northwest Suburban houses at 548 W. Northwest Hwy. ## Park district to get funds, oks Milburn contract change

The Arlington Heights Park District last night approved a Change Order to a contract with Milburn Brothers Inc., which now makes the Park District eligible to receive $97,000 of federal grant money.

The Change Order concerning minimum wage laws was necessary to comply with Federal requirements under the Open Space Program for a grant for park development.

The federal grant was determined recently by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in Chicago.

ACCORDING TO Thomas Thornton, director of parks and recreation, the Park District is not eligible to ask for 100 percent of the grant for the money in percentage.

The Board received a letter from Milburn Brothers saying they have complied with the minimum wage law which is required for the park district to receive the grant.

Only 50 persons turned out to see Spino Agnew—they knew what he might call them.

The Board approved the low bid of $22,000 for a contract with North American Road Builders, Inc. for a site development of the Hickory Meadows Retention Basin. The approval is subject to announcement by the Park Board attorney Charles Bobelstein.

THE BOARD will act at the request of member Roy Brasser, that the contract be valid subject to the federal grant payments.

Thornton commented that the bid should be accepted because of the low bid and the prices would probably be higher.

The board will also act at the request of member Roy Brasser, that the contract be valid subject to the federal grant payments.

The Northwest suburban law will provide some 40 per cent of the $40-million allocated to non-interest-free highway improvements for District 1 (Cook County), with Higgin Rd. construction receiving the lion's share, in the record $175 million highway program for 1970 announced by Gov. Ogilvie Monday.

Thomas Menzies, planning engineer for Dist. 10, yesterday detailed the planned improvements that will require $175 million of the total $49 million spent locally on non-interest roads.

Higgin Rd. is to be widened to four lanes from Elmhurst Rd. (Ill. 83) to Rolling Rd. (Ill. 33) a distance of 4.5 miles, in an 18 month project slated to begin in mid-April and be completed by Nov. 71.

ESTIMATED COST is $6 million for that project that will have additional turn lanes at major intersections and resurfacing where needed.

Another even bigger Higgin Rd. project is estimated at $14 million, widening from two to four lanes the 9.2 mile section from Meacham Rd. (just east of Ill. 55) to Ill. 59 (Juntan Rd.).

Mormono said plans are still being developed for this improvement expected to start in Dec. 1970, and completion planned the June, 1972. This project will also include drainage installations where necessary and channelization and signization of major intersections.

ANOTHER MAJOR, non-interest project is slated for Dundee Rd. Additional lanes are to be added in the 3.25 mile stretch between Elmhurst Rd. and retained Ill. 53, known as "diverted" lanes, at "Pav 61."

Mormono said that contractors for this $5 million project are to be let in May, with a July start expected, and completion set for Sept. 1971.

Another stable improvement scheduled is the 2.3 mile section of Arlington Rd. (Ill. 62) from Pay 61 to Kende Rd., which will be widened from two to four lanes at an estimated $3.5 million cost.

Planned for an earlier start, a $3.75 million project of Arlington Rd. from Pay 61 to Dempsey (just west of Boone) is to be started in May.

This $2.5 million widening project (from two to four lanes) is to begin April 15, said Mormono, and be finished by Oct., 1971.

A MAJOR intersection reconstruction project is planned at Ill. 59 and Golf Rd. (Ill. 58), where $260,000 will be spent on extra turn lanes and traffic signals.

A part of the governor's program that was classified for "immediate action" said Mormono, was the widening and resurfacing of roads which are two-lane roads of 20 feet width, to be widened to 24 feet, and covered with bituminous resurfacing.

THIS PROGRAM includes River Rd. from Irving Park Rd. to Belmont; estimated cost $100,000, and be finished by Oct., 1971.

West Lake Ave. from U.S. 41 to the east corporate limits of Barrington, estimated cost $75,000.

section from Irving Park Rd. to the southeast corner of Elmhurst Rd. to Lake St. (Ill. 58) in Stone Park.

The $5 million widening and resurfacing job will involve some further acquisition of rights-of-way, said Mormono.

A hoped-for starting date for this project is Oct. 1970, with a Dec., 1971 completion planned.

MISCELLANEOUS non-interest projects include drainage pipe rehabilitation of U.S. 14 north of Baldwin Rd. (just northwest of Palatine) at an estimated $250,000 cost to eliminate roadway flooding; and the modernization of traffic signals, a $30,000 project, at Irving Park and Barrington Rds. (northwest of Hawthorn Rd.).

Major engineering, highway project slated to begin in 1970 is the involved grading, paving and grade separation work on relocated Ill. 55 between the Northwest Hwy. and Golf Rd. Completion by Oct. 1971 is the highway division's goal.

Also included in the mammoth District 10 highway project is the five-mile section of York Rd., from the Northwest Hwy. to Irving Park Rd., with $200,000 allocated for signs and $800,000 for lighting. Mormono said.

"Here another idea. It's only 9,000 acres." That's what Mayor Leffler, newly elected president of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, is telling two of the more colorful members of the Chamber, Chuck Beck and Dan Cappelmann. The three met at the Hawthorn Club, atop the Arlington Park Towers. Since Beck is a past president of the Chamber, Cappelmann is a past president of the Chamber, and he had much to discuss.

Serve a man his favorites

It's easy to please a man! Just serve him what he likes to eat.

This is not to say that menus remain static or that you should continue to stick with the old favorites. Men may like their favorite foods served often but they enjoy variety, too.

The secret, then, is in choosing foods that have built-in man appeal and then making something new of them by combining them with less familiar foods.

TAKE FOR EXAMPLE boneless chuck roast and potatoes. That's everybody's favorite. Give it a new flavor by simmering it in spicy tomato sauce with tasty tomato bits.

Deviled beef short ribs also are tailored for hearty eating. A twice baked potato garnished with a bacon curl and a sprig of parsley served with a crisp mixed vegetable salad is sure to complete an eye-appealing trio.

For the champ, a man-pleaser

CHAMPION CHUCK DINNER

1 boneless chuck roast, rolled and tied (3 to 3½ pounds)
2 tablespoons Wesson Oil
Dash of salt and pepper
2 cans (8 ounces) or 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits
1 cup water
1 onion, quartered
1 clove garlic, crushed
6 carrots, pared and quartered
3 medium potatoes, pared and halved.

Sprinkle roast with salt and pepper; in Dutch oven brown in Wesson Oil. Pour off fat; add Hunt sauce, water, onion and garlic. Simmer, covered for 1½ hours. Add potatoes, carrots and 1½ teaspoons salt. Simmer covered for 1 hour more. Makes 6 servings.

This is tailor made for him

DEVILED SHORT RIBS

4 pounds beef short ribs
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup catsup
¼ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup water
1 bay leaf
1 onion, sliced
Water, if desired
Flour, if desired

Brown short ribs on all sides. Pour off drippings. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1½ hours. Pour off drippings. Combine brown sugar, ginger, dry mustard, salt, pepper, catsup, soy sauce, lemon juice, ½ cup water, bay leaf and onion and add to short ribs. Cover tightly and continue cooking slowly ½ hour or until tender. Discard bay leaf. Add water to cooking liquid to make 2 cups. Thicken with flour, if desired. Four servings.

It probably comes as no surprise that beef is America's favorite meat. However, we often make the mistake of cooking it the same old way.

Deviled beef short ribs are tailored for hearty eating. When making your meat purchases select thick and meaty pieces with this borders of fat, recommends the National Livestock and Meat Board.

A touch of the Mediterranean at home

By Charlotte Erickson

If a trip to the Mediterranean is not in your immediate plans perhaps you could enjoy a touch of the continental flair with the following two recipes. There are many variations of these popular dishes depending on the country and the providence or area of each country.

LAMB PILAF

A marvelous all-in-one dish with a distinctive Mediterranean flavor.
Yield: 6 to 8 servings

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 3 pounds lamb loin, cut into one-inch cubes
- 1 large Spanish onion, sliced and separated into rings
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

- 1 cup raw rice
- 1 cup white raisins
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 can (10 1/2-ounce) tomato sauce
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1 cup (12 1/2-ounce package) sliced almonds, toasted
- 1 cup chopped or sliced parsley

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Melt half the butter or margarine in a large heavy skillet. Sauté half the lamb over very high heat until browned. Remove lamb from skillet and drain on paper toweling.

Remove excess fat from the skillet. Add remaining butter or margarine and repeat with remaining lamb. Lower heat. Sauté onions. Add cinnamon and pepper, and continue cooking over medium low heat for three to five minutes, until the onions become soft.

Boiler a 2 1/2-quart casserole lightly. Sprinkle the bottom lightly with 1/2 cup of raw rice and one-fourth of the raisins, meat and onions. Repeat layers. Sprinkle top with salt. Add combined tomato sauce and water. Pour over the mixture along with lemon juice. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes. Remove cover. Sprinkle top with almonds and parsley. Bake 10 minutes longer. Serve immediately.

TO FREEZE: Arrange pilaf in casserole dish, omitting almonds and parsley. Freeze, wrap, label, date and freeze.

TO SERVE FROM FROZEN: Bake frozen casserole in a preheated 400 degree oven for one hour and 35 minutes. Remove cover, add almonds and parsley, and continue baking for another 10 minutes. Smaller casseroles dishes require less baking time.

CASQUET
This type of dish is very popular in the Mediterranean area. There are many variations, and they all comprise a very hearty, wholesome and satisfying meal. All that is needed is an accompaniment of a loaf of crusty bread and perhaps a tossed salad.

- Yield: 3 servings
- 2 cups small very beans, washed and drained
- 1 quart water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 pound sweet Italian sausage
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon thyme
- 1 can (8 ounce) tomato paste

1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes

2 cups cooked barley
In a large heavy pot or Dutch oven heat beans in water and boil until cubes to boiling. Cook for five minutes and remove from heat. Let stand one hour.

Remove meat from sausage casing and trim for 20 minutes in a separate pan. Remove meat and drain. (This removes fat from sausage.)

Add onion, garlic and thyme to bean mixture and simmer, covered, for one hour. Add tomatoes and tomato paste and simmer, covered, for one more hour. Now add sausage that has been cut into chunks along with cubed ham and parsley. Bake uncovered in a preheated 325-degree oven for about one hour.

Here's a way to serve carrots and beans that's different. The recipes are Scandinavian.

Hash and cheese are a tasty duo

A delicious way to call family or guests to the table is with Corned Beef Hash and Cheese Pie. Inexpensive and satisfying it is sure to become an often-served favorite.

Sauté Bermuda onions with peas, until onion pieces are golden brown. Roll potato slices into a baking dish, and crisp attractively around the edge. Spread half of the hash over the crust and top with the onion mixture. Sprinkle shredded American cheese over the onion. Spoon the remaining hash over the top. Bake the pie 25 to 30 minutes, and it's ready to serve.

It's a wise homemaker who plans ahead for unexpected company and deep-freeze what just "can't get to the stove." Keep a can of hash and a pastry mix on the pantry shelf for special brunches and emergency suppers.

- CORNERED BEEF HASH AND CHEESE PIE - 2 cans (10 1/2-ounce) corned beef hash
- 1 package (9 1/2-ounce) pie crust mix
- 1 large Bermuda onion, finely sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 package (10-ounce) frozen peas
- 1 cup shredded pasteurized processed American cheese (4 pounds)

Melt butter or margarine in frypan. Add onions and peas; cook slowly until onion is golden brown and peas are partially cooked, about five minutes. Spread half of the hash over the crust. Top with the onion mixture. Sprinkle shredded American cheese over the onion. Spoon the remaining hash over the top. Bake the pie 25 to 30 minutes, and it's ready to serve.

Even though the growing season in Sweden is brief and less than 12 percent of the country's total land area is suitable for cultivation or pasture, the Swedish table is cornucopia of marvelous natural foods.

Sweden and much of the other Scandinavian countries still carry on the living tradition of their old methods of preparing native foods. The Northern European waters yield an abundance of seafoods; breads and pastries abound in unlimited variety, and rich dairy foods find their way into all parts of the menu.

SPINACH SOUP found almost daily on Scandinavian tables from the rich fruit soups often served as desserts, to hearty meat and vegetable soups. This rich Norwegian Spinach Soup takes advantage of the convenience foods - canned chicken broth and saucy cut leaf spinach frozen in better sauce than clings. It's cooked combined in a blender and then heated to serving temperature. A dash of tarragon and hard-boiled egg when added the final touch.

Vegetables, found in great array, are often enhanced with a rich cream sauce. These bite-size carrot nuggets, frozen in better sauce than clings, take on a Scandinavian air when served creamed and enfolded with a dash of oil. The diagonal-cut green beans are reminiscent of Sweden when combined with sun-dried onion and topped with their strip of smoked ham.

Economical eggs make easy, elegant dishes

No matter how rare the lander, if there are eggs in the refrigerator, the makings of a good meal are at hand. The neatly packaged, protein-rich food is the basis of literally hundreds of dishes that have the added virtue of adapting to breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus.

This is a good time to try some exciting new egg recipes like these three created in the Test Kitchens of The R. I. French Co.

A delectable breakfast or late supper dish is scrambled eggs.

Provençal Style: A simple, savory concoction of eggs beaten with prepared yellow mustard, salt, pepper and parsley flakes and added to lightly sautéed onions and tomatoes.

EGGS AND ASPARAGUS with Golden Mustard Sauce is an elegant and satisfying lunch or entrée. Fresh asparagus is topped with hard cooked eggs and an easy but noteworthy sauce. Made with mayonnaise, prepared yellow mustard, butter, cream and cornstarch, the mixture can be made ahead and reheated without loss of curling.

The Seafood Pie calls for canned tuna or crab meat, briefly cooked with onion and added to eggs which have been beaten with cream and prepared yellow mustard. The mixture is poured into a pastry shell, sprinkled with cheese and baked for 30 minutes. A different dinner dish that comes to the table puffed and golden brown.

SCRAMBLED EGGS PROVENCAL STYLE
4 eggs
2 tablespoons French's

Prepared Yellow Mustard
2 tablespoons French's
Parsley flakes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
3 green onions, finely sliced
1 ripe tomato, peeled and chopped
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

EGGS AND ASPARAGUS WITH GOLDEN MUSTARD SAUCE
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup light cream or milk
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup French's Prepared Yellow Mustard
1/2 teaspoon sugar
2 pounds fresh asparagus, cooked
6 hard cooked eggs, sliced
Melt butter in small saucepan. Stir in cornstarch. Add cream, mayonnaise, mustard, sugar; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Arrange asparagus and sliced eggs on a platter and pour hot sauce over the top. Serves six.

SEAFOOD PIE
8-inch pastry shell
1/4 cup chopped green onions
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (7-ounce) tuna or crab meat
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or dry vermouth, if desired
3 eggs
1 cup heavy cream
3 tablespoons French's Prepared Yellow Mustard
1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
Bake pie shell in a 450-degree oven five minutes. Cook onions in butter one to two minutes, or until tender. Stir in tuna or crab meat; heat gently for two minutes. Add wine and boil for one minute. In a mixing bowl combine eggs, cream and mustard; beat until well blended. Gradually stir in tuna or crab mixture. Pour into pastry shell; sprinkle with cheese. Bake in 375-degree oven for 30 minutes or until filling is puffed and golden brown.

Let stand a few minutes before serving. Serves six.

This is the season when eggs are a food bargain and therefore a good time to try some exciting new dishes for breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus.

Go international with plain potatoes

Left: Instant Idaho Potatoes make Italian dumplings with salmon and cheese a breeze. The chicken's easy too, egg self-heating when it's cooked in an imported egg cooker.

The potato holds a place of honor in the history of cooking around the world. The potato dumpling is an ingenious invention of ancient Rome. You know it by the name of "gnocchi," one of the great classic delicacies of the Italian cuisine.

When Mrs. B. presented to the Pope many centuries ago it was described as a small truffle and promptly dubbed "tartufoli." Even today, the Germans call potatoes and truffles by the same name.

In this country we have many forms of potatoes to give us a head start on preparing international cuisine. With so much of the iceberg, job of peeling, slicing, and dicing done for us, we have more time to add the gourmet touches.

IDAHO POTATOES, with their unique flavor, can be found freeze-dried in your frozen food section. French fries, crinkle-cut, shoestring, breaded hash brown, cottage fries and more.

And there's a section for instant Idaho products, too. Keep a stock of instant mashed and packaged-cupped or au gratin potatoes handy in your pantry. You can serve the almost ready Idaho potatoes from freezer or their following package directions, or you can give them a nationality with a swirl of two of curry powder, chili pepper or dill. You can give them character with imaginative sauces.

Today there's no limit to the potato potential of your three-square meals a day.

American-Italians are as likely to heap their favorite potatoes as with pasta. Instant mashed potatoes can also become instant dumplings, a wonderful thing to serve with Thanksgiving in its clay cooking pot. These happen to be flavored with salmon and cheese, herbs, crisp bacon bits and perhaps a little chopped fresh spinach with anchovy.

ITALIAN POTATO DUMPLINGS
3 cups Idaho Instant Potatoes
3 eggs boiling water

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon onion
1 egg, slightly beaten
6 thick slices salmon
Sauce package mozzarella cheese
csm (1 pound 15 ounces) chicken broth
Chopped parsley
Measure potatoes into a large bowl and pour boiling water over them, tossing lightly with a fork. Add seasonings, flour and egg.

Let cool while you cut salmon and cheese into cubes. Stir into potato mixture. Flicker chicken broth with a four-water pan and bring to a boil, stirring until slightly thick. Turn down heat and drop dumplings by the spoonful into the simmering broth. Do just a few at a time. When they rise to the surface, turn them over and continue cooking three minutes. Spoon into a serving dish with some of the broth and sprinkle with parsley. Serve with chicken baked with anchovy and bake in a clay pot if you have one. Serves

FOR A touch of the West Indulge in frozen Idaho potatoes go international, too. All the convenience of pre-peeled, sliced potatoes and all of the compliments for a start-from-scratch taste are yours with this glamorous dish of diced potatoes with almonds and dairy.

CURRIED ALMONDINE POMMES DE TERRE
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup finely chopped unblanched almonds
4 new frozen diced Idaho potatoes
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 teaspoons or more curry powder
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup whipping cream
Melt butter in a heavy skillet. Add almonds and cook, stirring, until lightly browned. Add potatoes, onion, curry powder and salt and pepper. Pour in cream and cook, stirring now and then, until potatoes are tender and nicely browned. Serves eight.

A convenience meal to save the day

Spanish Rice with Frank's is a one dish meal that spells convenience and requires little or no advance preparation.

On a busy day convenience foods are friends that come to the housewife's rescue. Spanish Rice with Frank's is a dish created in the test kitchens of The R. T. French Co. A flavorful combination, the recipe calls for quick-cooking rice, canned tomatoes and tomato paste, an envelope of seasoning mix for sloppy joe and bite-size pieces of frank's. For even easier cooking, make the dish in an electric skillet. Serve the meal-in-one with a crisp green salad tossed with Piquant French Dressing. Oil and vinegar are the base, and prepared yellow mustard adds the special tang.

SPANISH RICE WITH FRANK'S
1 1/2 cups packaged precooked rice

1 envelope (1 1/4 ounce) Frank's Seasoning Mix for Sloppy Joe
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1 can (6-ounce) tomato paste
4 frankfurters
Combine all ingredients, except frankfurters, in a skillet. Bring to a boil. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Cut frank's in bite-size pieces and add to rice mixture. Simmer, uncovered, an additional five to 10 minutes or until frank's are hot. Serves four.

PIQUANT FRENCH DRESSING
2 1/2 cups oil
1/2 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon Frank's Prepared Yellow Mustard
1 tablespoon Frank's Hot Sauce
1 tablespoon Frank's Paprika
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon Frank's Cayenne Pepper
Combine ingredients in a jar and shake vigorously. Refrigerate several hours. Pour over tossed salad greens. Makes 1 cup.

Danish plus chocolate

A devilish good dessert

This special dessert starts with the new completely baked, fresh frozen Butter Strained Coffee Cake from the Kitchens of Sara Lee. But because the new Danish product is an all-day Danish it can be served as is, or with a few simple additions that turn it into an elegant ending to lunch, brunch or dinner.

In the case of Chocolate-Filled Butter Strained, the butter flavored pastry is simply sliced into two layers. A rich and yummy mixture of chocolate fudge instant pudding, milk and dairy sour cream is added. The top is sprinkled with cocoa and powdered sugar, and the result is a chocolate-rich, devilish good dessert.

CHOCOLATE FILLED STRAINED CAKE
1 package completely baked, fresh frozen Sara Lee Butter Strained Coffee Cake, 14 1/2-ounce package chocolate fudge instant pudding
1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon cocoa
3 tablespoons powdered sugar

For best results cut frozen coffee cake when partially thawed for easier handling. Prepare chocolate pudding according to package directions with 1 1/2 cups of milk. Blend in sour cream. Spread mixture evenly over bottom layer of coffee cake. Put a six-inch paper circle over center of cake and sprinkle edge with cocoa. Remove paper circle and sprinkle cake center with powdered sugar.

Chocolate pudding and dairy sour cream are added to the new completely baked, fresh frozen Butter Strained Coffee Cake from the Kitchens of Sara Lee and the result is a chocolate-rich and devilish good dessert.

University forecasts for new year

The same factors that have kept 1969 food budgets moving up in Chicago may continue, reports the University of Illinois Extension Service. Farmer produced and delivered to market more pork, fryers, eggs and beef last year, though retail and farm supplies were reduced and promise to be even shorter in 1970. Its supply issues have been apples, pears, peaches, citrus fruit and bananas.

Inflation has affected every one, and there is no end in sight yet. Marketing costs continue to rise from containers to transportation to taxes. In the Chicago area, food promotion and price-cutting are expected to increase. As of right now, Extension economists are predicting that food budgets will be a little bit higher.

When blue cheese was first produced in this country, its use was confined primarily to salads, or it was served as wedges with crackers or fruit. Today, however, homemakers have found countless uses for the mellow cheese. Here are just a few: soups and soup garnishes, egg dishes, casseroles, souffles, omelets and rabbits, entrees with meat, poultry and fish, soups of all kinds, vegetable dishes, all types of sandwiches and des-

Knights sets mark in Gre tank win

Green Gables of Harvey swam a turn to butterfly team during yesterday's meet with Elk Grove. Greys finished third, and the Knights won the meet, 81-73. (photo by Jim Stuart)

Knights drop swim meet to E. Leyden; still winless

The Prospect Knight swimming team stayed out of the win column yesterday afternoon as they lost another dual, 62-51, to the host East Leyden Eagles.

The Knights showed some improvement from Saturday's dual against St. Vincent, as the Knights were "shot out," falling to gain a first or second place.

Cards roll over Elwood Park by 64-26 in tank

The Arlington swimmers drowned Elwood Park last night, 56-27, on the varsity level and 64-26 on the frosh level. Sophomore Steve Judge collected two individual firsts along with being a member of the 400-yard freestyle relay team.

Junior stand-out Tom Rowe swam a first and a second, and was a member of the 200-yard medley relay team. Junior was first in the 200-yard individual medley, 2:25.2, and in the 100-yard freestyle, 54.8.

Senior lost first in the 100-yard butterfly, 59.8, and second in the 400-yard freestyle, 4:39.1. Senior Bill Wicks of Arlington collected two seconds and was a member of the medley relay team.

Swimming in two final for the frosh level was Ken Hoffbach. Hoffbach won the 200 freestyle and the 400 freestyle. Other first place finishers were Jeff Smith, Craig Ould, Richard Cook, Jeff Smith, and Jeff Placing. Second were Don Herrick, Doug Wanderer, Mark Tokerman and Dave Hartman.

Wright showing signs of stardom at IWU

By Jim Stuart

Don Wright

Many basketball players reach their peak in their junior or senior year of high school—they're good, solid high school ballplayers but they lack the ability to go any further.

Others are only starting to reach their potential by the end of high school, and these are the ones who often go on to make it big at the college level.

ONE BOY who is starting to find his way into the second category is former Wheeling High School guard Don Wright.

Wright was a steady performer for Mike Orent's Mid-Southern League champions last year, but his forte was defense and he was not really known for his scoring ability.

In the Palatine Regional he broke loose, however, leading the Wildcats to the championship with three 20-point games. He then scored 24 points in a losing cause in the opening game of the Arlington sectional, when the Cats were eliminated from the tourney.

IT LOOKS like Wright's season heroes were only the beginning for the quick-scorer, because now he is proving for a starting position on the Illinois Wesleyan varsity although he is only a freshman.

Wright came off the bench at games when captain Mike Grumkow got into foul trouble and scored 11 points in the 52-60 victory. He was also credited with a good defensive performance in a 79-64 loss at Youngstown State.

I'm not sure we could have won at Iowa without him," said Wesleyan head coach Dennis Bridges. "He has been on our third guard. He is tremendously aggressive for a freshman and tries to intimidate the man he's guarding."

"THE MIGHT be a good defense as any freshman guard we've had. He hasn't yet shown the shooting ability that Grumkow and Sam Brown have but he could be a good scorer because he'll find ways to get the ball into the key.

IWU is currently 3-3 on the season, and Bridges plans to count heavily on Wright to keep that winning record up. He has already seen action in seven of the eight games, and is shooting at a 50 clip with four field goals in four attempts. He is also 8-13 from the foul line for a 61.5 mark.

"I'm a little wheezy," coach Ted Ecker didn't spare any superlatives on his explosive, but he is showing a lot of promise.

"I THINK he could play defense for any college in the country," he said. "He's always been a real gangly kid, a guy who would always be hunting and put out until he dropped. The thing is, he never dropped."

Ecker was in charge of a summer park district league last year at the school, and it is his opinion that it was then that Wright developed as an all-around ballplayer.

"That was the first time he shot starting dropping regularly," he said, "and that shooting ability was the only thing he had really lacked before."

ECKER POINTS out that Grumkow, who has been one of Wesleyan's leading scorers for several years, will graduate this year and he is confident that Wright will be able to move into a starting role. But even with Grumkow around, Bridges has been forced to change his outlook on the use of reserves.

Our bench has proven to me that it has players capable of giving us a lift rather than just serving as replacements while the starters rest," said the coach who has always preferred to go with his five starters and not substitute unnecessarily.

And you can bet that the "reserve" he was talking about was a guard named Don Wright.

Warrior gymnasts fall to GBS for 6th straight dual meet loss

The Maine West gymnastics team slumped to their sixth straight dual loss, 93-41-19, this time to the hands of host Glenbrook South. Only one Warrior performed well enough to gain the 5.0 mark, as Tom Jackson turned the trick with his 5.0 effort on the side horse.

Rich Danaster Maine's all-around man placed fifth for the Warriors with a 2.65 in the free exercise event. Danaster was followed by teammates Mike Richmond, 2.90, and Dean Kolls, 2.45. Guy Richerson of Glenbrook South placed third with a 2.65.

On the high bar all West performers fell short of the 2.0 mark. First for the Warriors was Danaster with a 4.15, followed by Kolls with a 4.05 and Bob Gillette with a 3.25. Jay Storer placed first with a 4.15.

ME 3rd at NW after loss to PW

After three weeks of holiday parties, the swimming team from Maine East High returned to action Friday at Plover West, and despite the fact that it was the last meet of the season, the team was not really known for its scoring ability.

OFF THE 11 events, at Plover East captured but three, as once again the finest swimmers for the Plover Regional were the "superstar" Frank Morgan who singlehandedly contributed to points in winning both the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events, and then helped with seven more scores winning the 100 yard freestyle relay captured by ME.

Morgan put almost two 20 point games between him and the rest of the field in the 200 yard freestyle, and then faced the competition by over five full seconds in the 400 yard freestyle event.

The relay win for Maine put Roger Erickson and Morgan in a tight race for the 100 yard freestyle relay.

Plover placed first to a 7-0 lead, and after the first event, and steadily increased their difference to 29 points, they emerged with the 29 point victory.

THINGS WERE smoother the following day as Maine participated in the West West Big Red Invitational.

Davis's men placed third, scoring in every event in the meet won by Niles North. This time Mike Slope was the big gun for the Devons taking a first place in the diving competition.

Morgan turned in a third in the 100 yard freestyle, and finished fourth in the 200 yard freestyle. Both teams recorded a show finish in the 400 yard freestyle. Maine's Military Academy placed second, followed by Maine, St. Patrick, New West and Lake Forest.

This Friday ME will face Riverside-Bradfield in a twilight swim at the pool by the zoo.

Year of the dead horse

By Catherine O'Donnell

There's a movie made of film clips making the rounds in "In The Year Of The Pig." It is sponsored by the Northwest Suburban Peace Council.

It was shown yesterday at Harper Junior College, Fort Wayne, where one who has never been on the Harper Campus, trying to find the building where the movie was to be shown lasted nearly as long as the war in Vietnam. Ten students and three faculty members told us where to go in a different direction.

"In The Year Of The Pig" was shown better before the war. "In The Year Of The Dead Horse" is a supposed chronological account of the incidents and words that led us into the sorry mess called Vietnam.

I WOULD change the title because an word new seem like beating a dead horse. There are very few hawks left. Continuing commitment is one thing. Allowing so much to do so much for so many is something else.

The war is a tragedy. The film is a farce. It is such blatant propaganda that one would have to be just out of the bulb to even pay attention to it. It has not succeeded in making the audience feel sorry for the disidents without a cause.

It was directed by Emilio Something-or-other and produced by Mike Schell whose postage bill must have been staggering if he had to send letters asking for permission to use the clips that were typed in a 10-minute-long film. The sound was poor.

THE TITLE refers to a year in the Chinese calendar. One young spokesman said it meant the year 1968 when the events related led to the present conflict in Vietnam.

An older spokesman said that 1969 was the Year of the Pig. A Chinese gentleman of our town said that all he was sure of was that this is the Year of the Dog.

A local policeman said the title referred to the Democratic Convention, where one who is anybody had at least one head shot in the movie. It didn't always make sense.

THERE WAS no Chi Minh and Sen. Joe McCarthy, the latter at one of his red-baiting hearings. John Foster Dulles said something about the "domino theory." Former President Johnson said he didn't get "you" into Vietnam. "We've been in for 10 years."

There were several shots of former U.S. Senator Wayne Morse. Chi Minh would have been elected. The Democratic Congressional Society in Saigon had shown. There were shots of Cardinal Seán Connolly and Arthur Schlesinger who left President Kennedy was shown. And then Madame Nhu again still talking.

Then there were the terrible pictures of the Buddhist monks, having been killed on him by a Buddhist monk who then set fire to his immolation followed. "But was the longest scene" followed by another shot of a dead "Nga" still talking to his fingers.

SEN. ERNIE P. DENNIS of Alaska came in saying no one knew why he government in Viet didn't say why there was some martial music. A color guard of toy soldiers was shown.

There was a touching photo of a child crawling and stumbling along the ground trying to gather her belongings in a burning area. It was immediately followed by a picture of a grinning African soldier in a completely different background, with no connection to the one with the woman.

An American soldier said that the "only good book" is a dead book. "Change that to 'kiss' in World War I and 'Jap' in World War II and you go back."

ONE SOLDIER in describing the ammunition on a helicopter referred to some bombs as "birth control." There were several shots of the same American bomber dropping the same load.

"What do you miss most?" asked the narrator of American soldiers in swimming trunks cavorting on a beach. "American camps," they answered. The narrator pointed out a bunch of "shapely girls" who were also on the beach.

"They're all girls, slant-eyes, perked a smiling American. There were other silly statements taken completely out of context and some pretty silly ones that were serious. The film will be shown around the area. Contact the local Peace board. The admission is one dollar.

Two-way interchange construction set

Illinois State Toll Highway Authority officials yesterday announced that construction of the Northwest Tollway's Arlington Heights Rd. interchange will begin about March 1.

John Lavary, chief of the authority's legal department, said "quick start" condemnation proceedings would be filed once the state legislature today, giving the commission immediate possession of the interchange property.

According to George Gaudry, the authority's executive administrator, bids for construction will be advertised as soon as the condemnation suit is approved by the court.

A CONTRACT should be approved three weeks after the bids are first advertised, Gaudry said.

"I expect that the contractors will be able to complete the interchange by the time the first of March," Gaudry said.

"THERE HAVE been no real delays," Gaudry said. "The process is a time-consuming process and has to follow certain time-consuming requirements."

The interchange project has proceeded at the normal pace since it was started, Gaudry said.

The authority's pace may have been speeded up as a result of a letter dated Jan. 9 from State Rep. David Regier (R-Mount Prospect) to Gaudry, asking why the interchange project has been delayed.

"KNOWING The great importance and need of this project to the people of this area," wrote Regier, "I would like to know the reasons for the delay."

"Many people have put a great deal of time in the fight for the approval of the interchange, and I would like to be able to explain to them the reasons for the delay," said Regier's letter.

14 NU students to get stipends

Foundation will sponsor 14 stipends in biology at Northern Illinois University this summer for top undergraduate students.

GRANTS in the undergraduate research program provide students during summer research with stipends of $60 a week. The initiative also involves in the grant program received funds for operational expenses.

The undergraduate students will conduct essential independent research under the guidance of established scientists.

Students interested in the biology research participation project at Northern should write to Dr. Sidney Mitter, Department of Biological Sciences, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Ill. 60115.

Deadline for applying for the summer biology program is March 25, 1970.

Northwest Con-Con delegates differ on new revenue article

By Richard Crabb

The work of the Illinois Constitutional Convention as scheduled to appear before the convention today. They are: Lines, Carl Paul Simon and State Auditor Michael Howlett.

Last week Attorney General William Scott was the first to speak in the Gov. Ogilvie's address to the delegates on the opening day early in December. Scott said his address to the delegates was not to consider making the office of attorney general an appointive position.

As in the other cases, after long discussion, the convention refused to accept the Howard proposal and returned it to the Rules and Criminal Committee for further study.

ONLY SLIGHT changes were made in the public hearing in the Chicago suburbs scheduled for Feb. 11. DuPage County hearings will be shifted from Downers Grove, originally planned, to Wheaton, the county assembly of which Edward is a member. The hearing originally scheduled for Thornton High School was shifted to Homewood. Two more state officials are scheduled to appear before the convention today. They are: Lines, Carl Paul Simon and State Auditor Michael Howlett.

Last week Attorney General William Scott was the first to speak in the Gov. Ogilvie's address to the delegates on the opening day early in December. Scott said his address to the delegates was not to consider making the office of attorney general an appointive position.

HE POINTED out that under certain conditions, the attorney general of the state was required to exercise executive powers that such an office should be elected by the citizens of the state just as a governor or mayor is elected.

The convention may adjourn for the week after today's session. If no adjournment is likely on Thursday, delegates from the Northwest winners, known to personally oppose Edward's view, is insisting that the convention debate the matter fully.

The Committee on Revenue and Finance, of which Mrs. Jeanette Muller of Barrington is a member, planned to speak for the next two weeks during which the members of the committee will be arriving to hear all that they can about the fundamentals of state taxation and finance. They will hear from the state's foremost authorities on taxes and budgets.

Mrs. Muller, a resident of the northwest suburbs for more than 20 years, is one of the best informed women in Illinois on the work of the Illinois legislature and its revenue responsibilities.

FOR EIGHT YEARS from 1961 to 1969, Mrs. Muller was the official representative of the Illinois League of Women Voters to the Illinois General Assembly.

most authority of state and local government taxation in Illinois.

Prof. J. Nelson Young of the University of Illinois is scheduled to address Mrs. Muller's committee on revenue today. If the committee has a session on Thursday and budget specialist from the Governor's Office will speak to the committee.

DR. FISHER explained to the revenue committee that it had three alternatives in writing a new revenue article for the constitution. It could ignore the present revenue article and make no replacement, leaving the entire matter of taxation to the state legislature.

Since the state and its legislators have all powers not specifically mentioned in the constitution, Fisher said this might be a very workable approach. Fisher allowed it is a politically impractical approach in that the citizens will expect to see a revenue article that provides limits and bounds beyond which the legislature cannot go.

THE SECOND approach would be to provide a general statement on revenue. The third approach would be to write restrictions and revenue article such as eliminating the personal property tax and setting a limit on the maximum rate of an income tax.

"I favor a simple, flexible revenue article," Fisher told the committee. "You will get many proposals, many in conflict with each other. This might be used to the state legislators' advantage. They will have to listen to many proposals. Some will be well thought out. Some will be profound and some will be merely crackpot. They will soon learn to distinguish them," Fisher told the Con-Con revenue committee.

"If I were to make an exception and use the new constitution to rule out any tax it would be the personal property tax, but even here there is an important amount of revenue to be lost and which must be made up somewhere else," explained Mrs. Muller.

"I favor a lesser dependence upon real estate taxes for public education. I think the time is not yet appropriate to spell out how the public schools should be financed."

WHATSOEVER GOAL is set up in this matter, it may be necessary to approach the goal in phases or gradually—deliberate Phase One by 1975 and Phase Two by 1975 for example.

Dr. Glen Fisher, professor of economics at the University of Illinois, was the first to speak to the committee on revenue.

He was introduced to the committee by Delagade Dean Clark Netch, an assistant professor of law at the University of the Northwestern Law School faculty, as "the foremost authority on revenue."

Village managers forecast future

Forecasts for future in village government were made by Mount Prospect's Village Board. L.A. Hanson of Arlington Heights and Charles Wills of Elk Grove Village. Moderator for the panel was former Mount Prospect village president, Clarence O. Schaefer. Mrs. C. Corum served as civic participation chairman for the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club January meeting at the Arlington Towers.

By Delores Hough

"It will be a cold, cold day when village managers and village presidents get along, and today is a cold, cold day." This was the opening introduction to the members of the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club made last Thursday by panel coordinator and former Mount Prospect president C.O. Schaefer.

The subject of the panel was "What's Ahead for Municipal Government in 1970." L.A. Hanson, (and he never did explain why "Rudy" was his nickname) is the village manager for Arlington Heights and the current president of the Village Managers Association.

HIS INTRODUCTORY remarks included the seven deadly problems that are being dealt with by local area village governments.

They are pollution of air, water, scenery, sound, transportation, and retirement and growth in population.

"All villages should have an impressive plant, and achieving present and a promising future," he said. "We should have history but not be history."

Virgil Barnett, new Mount

Prospect Village manager hoped that Con Con would give more workable hearing for municipalities. He also said there was a traffic study being conducted for Mount Prospect with an eye to future under-track passageways and the solving of bottlenecks in traffic.

The plan of the future regarding solving of traffic problems will be predicted being more mercurial development.

The future will also hold no savors to flooding and, in general, deal with the seven problems cited by Hanson.

CHARLES WILLS, manager of Elk Grove Village, admitted that he had more on his mind than homes for displaced persons but predicted that this will be the problem of all area villages in the not too distant future.

His forecasts included wide increases in city personnel in order to supply needed services which will be demanded by residents, service which they cannot perform themselves and must be provided by local government. He also forecast large salaries for these employees and those paid to firms.

He forecast included consolidation, "not on the basis proposed recently incorporating a large number of villages but rather a closer cooperation in the area in order to supply the needed demands which increased population will bring."

HE ALSO proposed more utilization of physical facilities by daily usage of churches, schools, etc.

The three managers were in agreement on the following predictions within the next decade:

Air pollution - steps to be taken at local level as well as state and national regarding restrictive legislation.

WATER POLLUTION - improvement through the possible adoption of Lake Michigan water supply.

Scenic pollution - a cooperative large refuse and garbage disposal set up which will both rid the area of garbage and produce usable by-products at relatively nominal costs.

Transportation - The forming of traffic control patterns again possible through consolidation of more than one village government.

ON THE subject of growth the three managers gave the following forecasts: Arlington Heights projection for ten year period 120,000; Mount Prospect, 80,000; Elk Grove Village, 60,000.

These figures will be accomplished through expansion of boundaries, annexation and increased high rise dwellings. Density of houses will increase with exact areas of common open space provided in overall planning.

Though Hanson took the fifth amendment on the question, Barnett and Wills agreed that there definitely was a need for women in local governmental positions and in personnel.

THE PANEL discussion concluded with the answering of several questions regarding flooding, garbage disposal, health inspection of restaurants and the benefits hoped for through Con Con, those to include more home rule and less restriction regarding annexation and incorporation.

Mrs. C. Corum, former president now serving in Civic Participation Chairman coordinated the program given for nearly 100 members and guests.

Better market values

Perhaps the nationwide cold wave given so much attention last week wasn't bad after all. Weather particularly cold, snowy, windy and wet weather—usually such permeable food markets soured. Damage to the most perishable items sometimes goes unimagined. Some buyers at most prices and had the market higher.

That doesn't seem to be the case this survey week, or at least it's not as pronounced as in some winters.

For instance:

Fresh fruit and vegetable factors take note of frosty western conditions and record generally stronger prices for lettuce and much higher costs for peppers, cucumbers and a few other salad items. But most confine their attention to the wider range of qualities arriving and an equally wide range of costs.

Fryer buyers report a steady wholesale market, with the week-long higher level, averaging 28¢ cents to 29¢ cents at the warehouse for fresh Grade A broths.

EGG-PRODUCERS and handlers note anywhere from unchanged costs to as much as 3¢ cents a dozen less for Grade A ten fruit. Retailly held pretty much unchanged, with top Grade A large eggs competitively tagged from 75¢ cents to 85¢ cents.

Livestock changed fractionally, with cattle averaging 16¢ cent higher and hogs one-half cent lower for the week.

Red meat were quoted 1/2¢ cent higher for most prime beef cuts. Larger size pork loins were as much as 2¢ cent off last week's last price, and spareribs jumped 2½¢ cents. Generally, count on these Chicago-area Meat Values. Sliced pork loins, pork butt roasts and steaks, picnic, sausage meats, rolled hams and sirloin tip roasts, ground beef, new beef, short ribs, round, sirloin and porterhouse steaks.

There are polities of air, water, scenery, sound, transportation, and retirement and growth in population.

"All villages should have an impressive plant, and achieving present and a promising future," he said. "We should have history but not be history."

Virgil Barnett, new Mount

Beehive

Here are two good home-making tips for the new year. The January white sales are here, and homemakers will welcome the news that manufacturers have made it possible to remove stains and odors from durable press tablecloths with little effort.

Dorothy Goss, University of Illinois Extension home management specialist, explains that two treatments have been developed to provide a soil-release finish. One produces a protective film; the other changes the surface condition.

The film treatment repels the soil by coating the fibers so that oil-and-water-based stains don't reach them. The other treatment changes the character of the surface so that it attracts water and allows oily stains and dirt to be washed away more easily. The sooner the stain is treated, the better the results.

When shopping for easy-care tablecloths, look for the manufacturer's assurance that soil-release finish has been added to the durable-press fabric. Then follow the laundering instructions carefully.

OUR OTHER tips concern the problem of the aerosol age. Because hundreds of different products come in aerosol packages, it's especially important that you take care in storing them as well as in using them.

University of Illinois Extension home management specialist claimants recommend that you store aerosol packages near the area in which they will be used. Be sure to keep cleaning supplies separate from food products. And store all aerosol packages out of the reach of children.

When storing products away from direct heat, don't overlook such sources as pilot lights, direct sunlight, irons in use and heating pipes.

Since some products require shaking before use, read the label before you press the button.

And by following the directions on the label, you can also avoid the possibility of an explosion. Labels contain warnings such as DO NOT PUNCTURE OR INCINERATE CONTAINER. Do not store in high temperatures; do not use near fire or flame.

BEFORE DISPOSING of an aerosol container, depress the valve until there is no sign of propellant or product being released. Then put the container with other noncombustible trash. Remember, never put aerosols into an open fire.

One extra hint to add your pocketbook and to help protect your family's health. With so many vitamin-rich foods on the January plentiful foods list, there is little excuse for not giving your family adequate amounts of this needed vitamin daily. Among the plentiful are grapefruit and grapefruit juice, oranges, apricots, canned tomatoes and tomato products.

Tomorrow Is Today

By Joseph DeLuise

Dear Mr. DeLuise:

I am 36 years old and have never had a future. Do you see any chance of me having any in the future?

Dear E.R.:

I feel you will have two children, one adopted and one your own, in that order.

Dear Mr. DeLuise:

I would like to know if there is a move for us in the near future. My husband has several job possibilities and if there is a move, will it be East or a little further West?

Dear E.R.:

I feel you are going both ways. First I feel a move to the East, which will last two or three years, but eventually, in five or seven years I feel you'll move West.

Dear Mr. DeLuise:

My husband has a large stomach ulcer and malignant polyps and refuses to stop smoking and drinking or be operated on for the polyps. What's going to happen to him?

I'm also having trouble getting his 18-year-old daughter, by his first wife, to move. She almost seemed to me to divorce my husband last year because I couldn't tolerate her self-centered, spiteful and sarcastic attitude toward me.

My husband feels guilty about asking her to leave and because of her, our married life is not what it once was. It is also making my physical condition worse than it was. How do you see her leaving?

M.G.:

I see the girl leaving soon. With your husband's attitude I feel the family is heading for much trouble. I do feel someone outside the family should check the problem with him. I feel there will be a correction in the relationship between you and your husband.

Dear Mr. DeLuise:

I have been separated from my husband for several months. We have three children. Do you see a settlement court? I feel I have to sell my home and move into an apartment or with my first wife. What you see for me? I feel I have to sell my home and myself? Will there be a remarriage for me?

J.T., Mount Prospect

Dear J.T.:

I see you moving into an apartment, but I see your mother near and your children will do all right.

Dear Mr. DeLuise:

I am 49 years old, divorced five years and have an 11-year-old boy. I work every day and own my own home. I have met several eligible bachelors on the 11th Avenue House. I feel I would like to get married and have a happy family life for my son. Do you see any change for me? Will I meet a man soon who is a nurse to share the love and responsibility of a wife and child?

E.S., Arlington Heights

Dear E.S.:

I feel there is a man for you. I feel he is in education, either a teacher or someone who gives instructions. I feel he has darkish blond hair and I do feel a remarriage for you.

Dear Mr. DeLuise:

I am 23 years of age and have been married for two years. Several months ago I became involved romantically with another man, who is also married. I would like to know what the final outcome of this involvement will be and also, what affairs will it have on our lives in years to come?

J.S., Chicago

Dear J.S.:

I feel you're heading for joy and trouble at the same time. But I feel you will be able to handle this without getting into trouble. I would suggest you back away from this involvement as quickly as possible.

JOSEPH DE LOUISE, nationally known psychic, will answer the questions of Day readers in this column. Letters should be signed, but names will be omitted if the writer requests it. Write to DeLuise in care of Day Publications, 722 Center St., Des Plaines 60016.

Driving costs? Man it costs just to sit still

By Carlton Smith and Richard Puhman Pratt

As a test of your inflation awareness, check below your estimate of the yearly cost of owning a popular, mid-priced night-cylinder automobile with standard equipment and automatic transmission, driving 10,000 miles during the year.

The law serves you

American taxpayer the world's best?

Congratulations. As a group, Americans are probably the best informed taxpayers in the world, according to the 11th Annual State Bar Association.

It points out that some 77 million Americans will file individual federal income tax returns in 1969, more than will compile their tax returns themselves and they will do so with a high degree of accuracy.

In the Midwest Region of the Internal Revenue Service, the IRSBA notes, only about 10 per cent of individual federal income tax returns for 1968 were found to have errors. This compares favorably with errors in a mining Social Security number, mining signatures or mining W-2 Form. Mathematical errors account for only 14.7 per cent of the 1,105,357 mistakes out of 1,105,357 returns filed by residents of Illinois and seven other states included in the study.

Q. I received an additional stock of stock as a dividend on some stock I own. Is this stock dividend taxable?

A. In general, if the share of stock you received as a dividend is the same class as the stock on which it was paid, the stock is not taxable. However, if there was an option to buy the stock or an option to sell the stock, the stock is taxable. The fair market value of the stock received should be reported as income.

Q. I have fully supported my grandfather for years but because the new needs continued attention for him, I have moved to a rest home. Can I still claim him as a dependent?

A. Yes. As long as you continue to support her and she needs the other dependency items you may claim her expenses even though she is no longer a member of the household. Moreover, if she is not a rest home primarily because of the medical assistance available there, the expense of her maintenance is considered a medical expense and is deductible as such. However, if some family or personal reasons prompt the move, only those expenses specifically for medical care are deductible.

For some reason, the IRSBA said the taxpayer who is due a refund on his tax appears to be the more error-prone than others. It said it may be that these taxpayers who are only break-even, or who may owe Uncle Sam an additional amount, take extra precautions to prevent mistakes in their computations.

The figure includes depreciation, figured on the most advantageous trade-in schedule—$7465—$9651—$14,688. According to the American Automobile Association, it was the largest figure, $14,648, in 1969 for the 10,000 miles that the average motorist puts on his car each year. That's a big jump from the figure of two and three years ago.

AS THE AAA figures it, even if you never turned the key in the car all year, the cost of just letting it sit at the curb would amount to $2,284 a day, or $1,052.

Those are the fixed costs of auto ownership, which you bear regardless of how much—or whether—you drive your car. Insurance, depreciation, license.

Add to these the variable costs: gas and oil, maintenance and tires. They will vary according to the number of miles driven during the year.

For the average auto and average driver, who puts 10,000 miles on his average car, variable costs come to 3.95 cents per mile. Add this to the fixed costs, and your total per-mile cost comes to 14.5 cents.

SO IF you think it costs only 3 or 4 cents to run down the grocery and back, because you're only burning up a tank of gas, think again. Just as this car costs $2.88 a day when it's only sitting at the curb, so it costs in-estimable 14.5 cents a mile to drive to the supermarket and back. If you're same in petting though you're consuming only 110 gallons of gas.

The AAA calculations are based on extensive tests of driving costs and similar conditions. Here's the way the yearly cost breaks down.

Fixed annual costs include:

- Fire & theft ins. $ 44
- Liability, $100/25M $104
- Licence & registration $ 729
- Depreciation $1,643
- Total $1,866

The depreciation figure, says the AAA, is the average annual cost "predicated on car trade-in at the end of three years or 60,000 miles, whichever event occurs first. This is the approximate duration of the most economical service period, during which the car is expected to deliver the greatest overall cost economy."

The variable costs average:

- Gas & oil 2.76 cents
- Maintenance .68 cents
- Tires .51 cents
- Total 3.95 cents

They're based on the average driver's 10,000 miles per year. If you roll up twice that mileage, add $15 per thousand miles to your depreciation costs.

Fixed sales tax on the 20,000-mile driver goes up, too. The car mile drive by around 30 miles at 3.95 cents $790

Discounts among fringes sales clerks enjoy

The success of any retail business depends largely on its sales people. Courteous, efficient service from behind the counter or on the sales floor does much to satisfy customers and build a store's good reputation.

More than 3 million sales people are employed in retail trade. More than three-fifths of them are women, in 100 or more different kinds of businesses, working in stores that range in size from small drug or grocery stores to mammoth department stores.

Aside from contact with customers, there are differences in duties, skills and responsibilities which are at grat to the difference in the kind of merchandise being sold.

Employers generally prefer to hire high school graduates for sales jobs and subjects such as salesmanship, commercial arithmetic and home economics help provide the student with a good background for many sales positions.

Some high schools also offer distributive education programs, which include courses in merchandising, principles of retailing and retail selling and also provide an opportunity for students to gain practical experience under trained supervision by working part time in local stores.

A MODERATE increase in

Dist. 211 sets registration for continuing education

Registrations are now being accepted by District 211 for continuing education classes. Signups might have been scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 20 at Palatine High School, 150 E. Wood St., Palatine; and Wednesday, Jan. 21 at Constant High School, Old Plum Grove Rd., Hoffman Estates from 7:30-9 p.m.

Cobol (computer language), Fundamentals of law, reception and switchboard, Conant will give real estate-buying, selling, trading.

CONANT and Fremd each have courses in effective management and investments and securities.

Industrial arts courses at Conant include radio-TV repair, mechanical drawing, home canning, upholstering, fundamentals of welding. Those at Fremd will be machine woodworking, electricity for the homeowner, and introduction to electronics, with furniture upholstering also taught Palatine High.

Special interest courses will include: housing, power and safe, great books, bridge and 11, bathroom dancing (registration by couples), fundamentals of photography, private pilot rating, commercial and industrial pilot rating, creative thinking, child psychology, and a consultation test review for teachers, all taught at Fremd.

DAY PUBLICATIONS columnist John A. Hurst will teach a creative writing workshop at Palatine High School. Conant will offer first aid (a.o. Italian), handwriting analysis, English for new Americans, bridge 1, photography seminar.

AT PALATINE High School, students can take "mod" dancing, antiquities, handwriting analysis, general psychology. A special course in college planning for parents, meeting these Wednesdays from 6-8 p.m. and offered at Fremd and Conant, will offer guidance and presentations by District 211 committee.

Choosing a college, application procedures, financial aid, scholarship, requirements of colleges and similar topics will be studied. This course will be tuition free, but there will be a $1.25 registration.

expected in the number of sales people employed in retailing all through the 1970s.

Factors contributing to the anticipated rise in sales jobs are population and economic growth, and the resulting increase in volume of sales.

The trend for stores to remain open for longer hours will also contribute to the need for more personnel. There also should be opportunity for considerable part time work.

STILL, ANOTHER advantage is the fact that sales persons in many retail stores are allowed to purchase merchandise at a discount, often from 10 to 25 per cent below regular prices, and this privilege is sometimes extended to the employee's family.

Also, some stores, especially the large ones, pay all or part of the cost of employee benefits such as life insurance, retirement, hospitalization and surgical and medical insurance.

NEWLY HIRED personnel usually receive on-the-job training, and most large firms have a promotion-within policy for career advancement. However, executive positions in large retail businesses are often filled by college graduates originally hired as trainees and assigned to sales jobs to gain practical experience.

Nevertheless, sales personnel sometimes become department managers, buyers, etc.

Little City seeks volunteers

If you find the Egg Workshop of Little City a pleasant place to work and boy, you owe a bit of thanks to the institution's Suburban Service League.

The Egg Workshop is the current league project. Mrs. Katherine Elstrom, a volunteer worker who lives in Palatine, recently raised more than $1,000 for much-needed medical fees.

The league has also purchased additional equipment to make working conditions much easier and more pleasant for the students and customers. Eggs can be purchased at the workshop daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The league was founded four years ago by a group of area residents. Mrs. Earl Ogilvie, Barrington, is the president. More volunteers are needed to work with the mentally retarded youngsters living in Little City, to assist with clerical duties, and to help maintain the library.

The need for volunteers is great. A Little City spokesman said: Interested persons should contact Doris Davies at Little City, the resident community for mentally retarded children, Palatine.

Teens plan Christian assembly

In spite of a way they may dress or act, many teenagers are serious Christians. The agents are seeking the honest, productive life, one free of hypocrisy and violence. A life where they may speak and live the truth and one in which they will be truly benefited.

This is how these teenagers feel about today. They also believe they will not turn aside from this.

Sharon Anderson, Judy Anderson, Tina Thomas and Jackie Zaleski are members of the Palestine Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. They participate along with the adults in all congregational activities which includes the house-to-house evangelizing and the conducting of free home Bible studies.

CLARET F. Erickson, the

Vocational training set at Harper

Vocational-technical training programs will be offered evenings in the Harper College from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. beginning Monday, Feb. 2.

Career courses include: former's operational activities; small town—mainstream; and day-care—day-care and night-care. The courses will be offered in electronics, numerical control and mechanical design.

On the other hand, there are the large groups of scholastic patients, some 50 to 60 percent of whom can be treated with the short-term psychiatric approaches. There are people in goodly numbers who never have had more than one brief in their lifetime and with a short-term intensive approach they can be very well pitched up, to say the least, for life.

BUT UNFORTUNATELY there are the others who have numerous relapses even though the symptomatic treatment might bring them back; they are under some new or repetition of the old stress.

So what is to be done about the schizophrenic, the alcoholic, the addict, and the criminal?

Many can be helped by psychiatric help. But is society willing to allocate anywhere from $15,000 to $50,000 to try to rehabilitate each one? Or will they remain anti-social charges in public institutions?

Wheeling group plans annual spaghetti dinner

The Wheeling Instrumental League will hold its fourth annual spaghetti dinner from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 17 in the Wheeling High School.

The Wheeling High School jazz band will entertain. Tickets are $1.00 per person, all of the spaghetti you can eat.

Those who have definite friends will be admitted free.

pressing minister of the congregation, explained. "The reason most of our young people take such an interest in the Bible and the practices of the good news of God's Kingdom is that their parents have taken seriously the way counseled in Proverbs 22:6. 'Train up a boy according to the way for him; even when he is grown he will not turn aside from it.'"

However, many young people today are turning to the Bible on their own to solve their personal problems with the practical wisdom from the God inspired Word.

According to the Rev. Mr. Erickson, "The youth of the congregation are encouraged to enroll in a weekly ministry school course conducted at the congregation Hall. Here Sharon and Judy Anderson, Tina Thomas and Jackie Zaleski periodically prepare and present short Bible talks and sermons as do all enrolled in the school."

EACH STUDENT is given individual attention as to those subjects which are most important applicable to their needs. This training is given by an assistant minister in the congregation.

The school, as well as all other meetings in the Kingdom Hall, are free of charge to all members of the congregation, young and old, to become effective ministers of God's Word.

More importantly, though, the well-rounded approach to the Bible through the congregational programs, both public and private study provides for a greater appreciation of the Kingdom of God's principles even in the fast-paced, ever-changing world we live in today.

THE TEENAGERS pictured here had the same way about their activities. Take for example, Sharon Anderson. Several of Sharon's friends were accepted for her of a free six-month home Bible study course.

What benefit has Sharon got from this work? "By studying the Bible, I have learned the Bible with others and sharing our views on different things. I understand it, I find it useful."

They usually benefit by getting their first real good look at the Bible. They're usually anxious to know more and gain a greater understanding of how to assist them with any problems they might have.

Secondly, I'm having a part in the preaching work that Jesus commanded all of his followers to engage in at Matthew 28:19. Judy Anderson, Tina Thomas and Jackie Zaleski have similar attitudes.

These four teenagers and approximately 170 others throughout the Palestine Congregation will attend a Christian assembly at Libertyville High School in Libertyville, Illinois, to be held January 23, 24 and 25, 1970.

NAMED ASSISTANT HEAD NURSE

A Rolling Meadows woman was recently named assistant head nurse of the new psychiatric unit at Alton Hospital, El Grove Village.

85 Northwest suburb youths to enter service Feb. 2

Eighty-five men of the northwest suburbs will be called into military service Feb. 2, Mrs. Gertrude Kiley, executive secretary of Selective Service Board 101, called today.

Numbers one through 79 will be called, she said. Fifty-seven of the men will be called from district 101, nine from district 102 and nine from district 103.

District 101 includes those suburban areas from Mount Prospect through the Cook County portions of Barrington and Elgin.

District 102 consists of Des Plaines and those areas through Lincolnwood to the east. Residents to the south and Northbrook to the north.

District 103's area is all that south of Roosevelt to North Ave., in Melrose Park.

Under the new lottery draft system all the age-qualified men are numbered by date of birth and alphabetical listing. Mrs. Kiley explained. Some are exempted for medical or scholastic reasons.

That means that all those born on Feb. 2 are numbered alphabetically. The same is done for those born on each of the other days of the year.

The draft call is announced on a different day each month. Men who are to report in January will report on the 27th. Numbers one through 29 were called for January. A few more men are being called this month but Mrs. Kiley said.

The lottery is inspiring affected reactions among the men being drafted. Mrs. Kiley said. Some like it better than the old system, and some don't.

Mrs. Kiley favors the old system, under which the men were simply numbered alphabetically.

But, she said Thursday, a majority of the men in the lottery, and it should be, given a fair trial.

End Street and Fran Groves of the Plaines. In their roles as Victor Valentino and Mrs. Beale, share a tender moment among the laughs of Neil Simon's comedy, "Barfroot in the Park." Performances by the Des Plaines Theatre Guild continue this weekend (last night at Gold Playhouse in Des Plaines. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday night.

Direction, talent make 'Barfroot' theater at it's best

By Collette O'Donnell

Just right for a winter night. In fact, the current production of "Barfroot in the Park," at the Des Plaines Theatre Guild Playhouse on Lee St., is just right for any night.

The director is Nancy Kole, who has done a great job of wedding some very good talent into a fast, but not too fast, highly amusing play that is community theater at its best. Director Kole could never have done it without the combined talents of flip Neil Simon, the playwright, and Jackie Martin, Michael Leachet, Doug Patterson, Paul Hawkins, Frances Grose and Ed Sauer. They were meant for each other and the play.

THE PLOT will never cause present signs to be carried in front of the theater by the D.A.R. the SDS or the Lion of Decency. There's no controversy. There's plenty of conflict, but it's all taken care of in three acts which only begotten, momentarily, in the second.

The story concerns a newly wedded couple who move into the stylish apartment of a converted brownstone house in New York City. The stairs in brownstone houses are notoriously steep. When the women are the abbess of the city's wealth, the hard headed had the upper quarter. When they became rentals, they went to people who fell for ad-justing "we the sky every night."

The newbyeds are not only traumatized by the steps but by the arrival of the bride's very suburban and widowed mother for a lightening visit to the daughter's new home. Their life is further enhanced with a get-acquainted visit by the tenant upstairs who has been locked out of his apartment for not paying the rent. He is, to say the least, a character. Ed Sauer, Des Plaines theater starlet, makes him funny, giddy, happy, and wonderful.

THE MOTHER of the girl is played by Frances Grose. The role was instrumental in reviving Myrna Loy's career when she played it in Chicago. She could not possibly have done it better than Miss Grose. She gives a hilarious portrayal of a pink pill pocket of the suburbs.

The young couple, played by Jackie Martin and Paul Hawkins is the husband, play their roles as if they were living them. They are beautifully assured. Their timing, and that of all the actors, is excellent.

There are two minor roles that could have passed unnoticed except that the Gold actors are polished and perfect. Unless you have lived at the top of the stairs in a New York brownstone, the huffing and puffing might seem a little exaggerated. It didn't to this former Manhattan rooftop dweller. It was beautifully done.

The roles were those of a telephone repairman, played by Michael Leachet, whose costume incidentally would never make the grade with William Bell, and Doug Patterson as the delivery man from Bloomingdale's. They were stars. Much credit for a perfect evening should go to the production staff. Bill Leverette did the set design, and Roy Quail did the construction and painting crew. It was excellent. In charge of properties, rats, a "burr" for the snow scene and the brightly shining lamp that opened the second act. Take a bow, Nancy Kole; your direction was superb.

Plan Mardi Gras

Plans are underway for a gala weekend Mardi Gras celebration at Pleasant Run Farm, 6 a.m. on Saturday, and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Booths will be available to sponsoring organizations. For information call Miss Gilda Moss, 564-0300.

Registration opened for acting classes
Mall Run Playhouse is now accepting registrations for its fifth season of acting classes. In addition to its usual two classes, one for high school students and one for elementary age children, a third class is being offered for previously enrolled Mall Run students.

Classes will be held for one hour on Saturdays for 10 weeks, starting Jan. 24 and continuing until March 28. Emphasis in the classes will be on acting techniques, including stage movements, voice and articulation, development of characterization, scene analysis and creative improvisation.

The classes will be taught by Michele Vacca and Fred Michals, both professional actors. For further information call either Mrs. Blaz at 618-3192 or Miss Run Playhouse at 296-6242.

MIDWAY MUSEUM

Midway, Georgia.

Midway Museum, adjacent to Midway Congregational Church, honors the founders of this historic settlement. Patterned after an 18th Century house which stood a few miles away, the Museum contains furnished rooms, a library and numerous exhibits which tell the story of the Midway community.

On August 28, 1754, a group of settlers recently arrived from Dorchester, South Carolina, met in a log meeting house on Midway Neck and organized the Midway Society. Some of these people were descendants of a small group of Puritans who had come from near Dorchester, Massachusetts, in 1695 to settle in South Carolina and others were French Huguenots, Scots and Carolinians who had joined the Dorchester settlement in the first half of the 18th Century.

The settlers, in need of more and better land, had decided to move to Georgia when they were able to secure grants of 32,000 acres in the Midway section. Upon the arrival of their minister, the Reverend John Osgood, in 1754, they organized the Society along the lines of a New England town, with annual meetings of the citizens to elect selectmen who governed the community as well as the church.

Continental Congress in 1775. St. Johns Parish (Midway) indignantly asked to be annexed to South Carolina. Denied this request, they sent their own delegate, Dr. Lyman Hall, to the Congress. The following year, two Midway men, Lyman Hall and Button Gwinnett, participated in the Congress which drafted the Declaration of Independence.

When the Revolution reached Midway in November, 1778, about 100 men from the Midway colony attempted to delay the British advance with two pieces of light artillery until help could arrive from Savannah. Outnumbered, they were forced to retreat, and the Church and all other buildings in the area were burned by the British. The same area was again ravaged by war in 1864, but Midway Church, which had been rebuilt in 1792, was spared and remains standing today.

Members of the Midway Church and Society and their descendants have produced eighty-six ministers, seven foreign missionaries, governors, United States Senators, Congressmen, and Cabinet members. Among Midway ministers were the Reverend Abiel Holmes, father of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, the author, and grandfather of Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes; Dr. I.S. Axson, grandfather of the first Mrs. Woodrow Wilson; and the Reverend Jedidiah Morse, geographer and father of S.F.B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph. General Daniel Stewart, member of the congregation, was the great-grandfather of President Theodore Roosevelt. Five counties in Georgia—Hall, Gwinnett, Baker, Screven, and Stewart—were named for Midway men.

In Miller's 23rd subdivision and increases the number of fully developed areas in which the firm is currently exhibiting furnished model homes to five. Miller is now opening 13 model homes daily to the public at prices ranging from $33,000 to $55,000.

In Mill Creek, buyers may choose ranch, bi-level or traditional two-story homes at prices ranging from $32,900 to $37,500. There are 177 homes available on a 125-acre site, which will eventually include a park, school and 540 luxury apartment units. The single-family lot average 6,000 square feet.

INCASING demand for one-story living has prompted Miller to feature a three-bedroom ranch at Mill Creek, which the company expects to be one of the most popular models. The Brookside will feature full baths and an attached two-car garage.

The floor plan has been devised to create an easy traffic flow with access to all parts of the home from the spacious tiled entrance porch.

A gallery type of kitchen adjoins both the family room and the formal dining area. Appliances include free standing, oven and range, built-in refrigerator, dishwasher and disposal. Counter-tops are of Formica and the wall boasts a decorative chimney.

THE BROOKSIDE features wall-to-wall carpeting, plus ceramic tile, colored plumbing in both baths, one of which is private to the master suite. The fully improved lot, which is completely landscaped, are the driveway of concrete included in the purchase price.

Other models have from three to four bedrooms, and a majority have two and a half baths. The homes have been given varied types of interior styling, one model has formal dining under vaulted beamed ceiling, another a fireplace, a third, a balcony kitchen overlooking the family room. Most have elegant traditional staircases.

was head coach at Arlington, he conceded that Arlington will have a night home court ad-

vanage, but he said that play-
